Teachers Advised To Affiliate With Labor Organization

Majority Report of Teachers' Federation Committee Recommends Action

Interests Closely Bound With Labor

Affiliation of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation with the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada is recommended in the majority report of a committee on affiliation with labor presented at this afternoon's session of the Teachers' Federation annual meeting.

The minority report states that the time for affiliation, even if desirable in principle, had not yet arrived.

All five members of the committee are united in recommending against affiliation of the federation with any civil service organization, pointing out there is no provincial body of the sort, or with the All-Canadian Congress of Labor, which the report says represents "a relatively small and unimportant group of workers."

The majority report on affiliation with the Trades and Labor Congress, signed by John McGeehan, Claude Campbell and Miss Madge Portsmouth, says the interests of the teachers, both economically and with regard to professional standards, are closely bound with those of the workers.

"Teachers are producers," they say and add trades unions everywhere have stood for higher and more modernized standards of equipment in schools, smaller classes, better salaries and sound pension laws, and have opposed any curtailment of educational opportunity.

The report also says that in time of depression moves to curtail education had always come from big corporations and banks.

Union of forces with labor, says the majority report, would result in added strength, better understanding and the dispelling of the wrong impression on the part of labor that teachers are stand-offish.

The report emphasizes that the Trades and Labor Congress does not advocate the strike as a weapon in disputes, exercises no coercive power over its affiliates with a view to strike action and levies no funds for that purpose.

The shorter minority report states that its authors are in sympathy with the main principals of organized labor in general, but that they consider teachers, as public servants, should avoid any action which might tend to increase, rather than to reduce, social tensions and cleavages already existing.

Spectacular Blaze Marks End of Old Structure

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A spectacular fire which started early today destroyed the 55-year-old Pillsbury elevator with a loss estimated at between $350,000 and $500,000.

Approximately 500,000 bushels of wheat, barley and rye were destroyed. The structure was 13 stories high and was owned by the Andrews Grain Company.

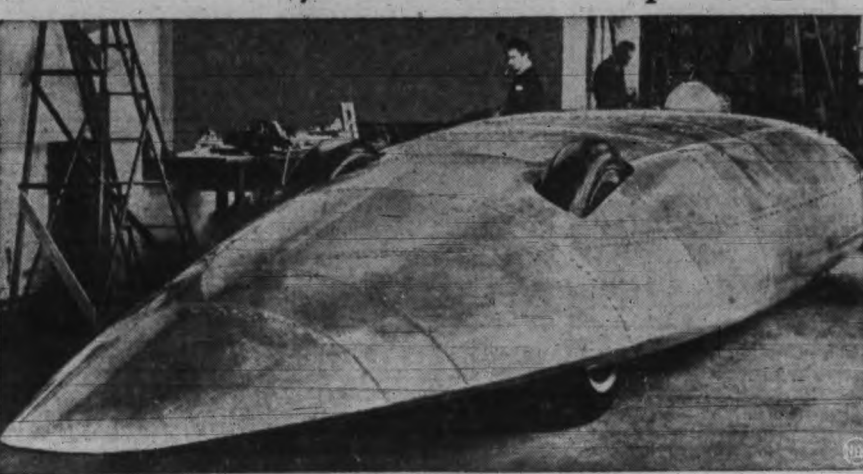

At the height of the fire, residents in the vicinity were warned to be ready to evacuate, but rain-dampened roofs and grasses resisted the spread of flames.

Burning grain and other debris were scattered for several blocks. The fire still was burning in some sections at noon, but was under control.

British Car to Try for World Land Speed Record

As in an alligator, it is hard to tell where the tail ends and the body begins in this new super-streamlined racing car built at Brooklands, England, for John Cobb's attempt on the world land speed record at Bonneville on the Utah salt flats next August. As the rear view above shows, the long-tailed stream-line effect is broken only by the turret in which the driver sits. The new speed dragon, designed by Reid Ralston, carries two Napier engines of 1,250 horsepower each which drive the front and rear axles independently, making two racing machines in one. Weighing more than three tons, the car is four feet three inches high and has a wheelbase of 13½ feet. The aluminum body weighs less than 500 pounds.

Francoist Forces Launch Strong New Drive On Madrid

Insurgents Try to Take City During Great Battle at Mediterranean

HENDAYE, France (AP)—Spanish insurgents are striking with sudden force at the weakened defenses of Madrid, and have driven back the government lines in the western outskirts of the long-besieged city.

Insurgents reports reaching the border disclosed the dormant central front once again was active, with Gen. Franco's troops fighting their way forward in Madrid's suburban West Park.

An insurgent communiqué said "a large part" of the government advance line had been cut.

The new theatre of operations was linked directly with the insurgent drive along the Mediterranean toward Castellon de la Plana and Valencia. The rapid insurgent drive in that sector caused Gen. Jose Miaja to draw many of his veteran government units from the Madrid front and hurry them into the fight 190 miles to the east.

BLOW IS TIMED

The new offensive had two objectives:

1. To capture at last Madrid, now that its defenders have been reduced.
2. To force Miaja to recall troops from the Castellon front, permitting the coastal drive to continue with a minimum of resistance.

The combined insurgent armies of Gen. Miguel Aranda and Gen. Garcia Valino held about 45 miles of the Mediterranean coast south of the Ebro River almost to Torrelabana, the last important town on the way to Castellon de la Plana.

On the northern sector of the Catalan front, insurgents yesterday.

Special Session Plan Defeated

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—Gov.

Clarence D. Martin "revoked the said purported proclamation of the Lieutenant-Governor" which called a special session of the Washington State Legislature for next Monday, and in a proclamation today declared "the Legislature shall not convene."

Lieutenant-Governor Victor A. Meyers gave the call for the session in a midnight proclamation early yesterday after his legal advisers had told him that was all that was necessary.

As a precaution he attempted to file the document at the Secretary of State's office yesterday and the proclamation was rejected after Attorney-General G. W. Hamilton had ruled Meyers without authority to make such a call.

At about the same time Meyers was presenting his proclamation for attestation, Governor Martin (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

Elizabeth Shares in Festivities at Windsor Castle on Her 12th Birthday

LONDON (CP)—A royal tea party, with Princess Elizabeth in the role of hostess pouring tea for a circle of small friends in Windsor Castle, marked the 12th birthday of the heiress presumptive to the throne today.

For the first time she received congratulations and greetings in official form from the Dominions and the colonies.

For the first time she assumed a public office—president of the Children's League of the Princess Elizabeth of York Hospital for Children at Shadwell.

She got her cue for "grown up manners" by having breakfast with her father and mother and their guests, instead of in the nursery with her younger sister, Princess Margaret.

Customary lessons were dropped for the day, which was devoted to special festivities. Among her presents was a silver whistle for her girl guide uniform—from Princess Margaret.

Tonight the Princesses enjoyed their own movie show, including a cartoon comedy.

Newbolt, Poet, Dies in London

Author of "Drake's Drum" and Other Verse Passes Away in 76th Year

LONDON (CP)—Sir Henry Newbolt, poet and historian of the sea, is dead. This morning's papers announced his death Tuesday at the age of 75.

Writer of stirring sea ballads, he once was called "the most English of all our poets."

He made his mark as a naval historian when called on to complete the work of Sir Julian Corbett on the official naval history of the Great War. His work gave the inside story of the German triumph over Cradock's fleet at Coronel, off the coast of Chile, and the story of the subsequent destruction of Von Spee's fleet by British ships off the Falkland Islands in the south Atlantic.

He was born at Bilston, June 6, 1862, the eldest son of Rev. H. F. Newbolt and his wife, formerly Miss Emily Stubbs. He was educated at Clifton College and at Corpus Christi College, Oxford. In 1889 he married Margaret Edina, daughter of Rev. W. A. Duckworth, of Orchardleigh Park. There are one son and one daughter.

"DRAKE'S DRUM"

Urged Publishing Of Hedley Report

A. M. Richmond Tells Jury He Wrote Late Deputy Mines Minister Dunn

VANCOUVER (AP)—A. M. Richmond, former British Columbia government resident engineer, today testified before an azzie court jury here he had told the late Robert Dunn, then Deputy Mines Minister, that his report on the Hedley Amalgamated Gold Mine revealing "definite suspicion" that ore samples from the property had been salted, should be made public.

Mr. Richmond was testifying at the trial of Russell E. Barker and William Cox, former officials of Hedley Amalgamated Gold Mines Ltd., on charges of conspiracy arising from operations of the company.

"Apparently they did not want to publish it," Mr. Richmond told Barker's counsel, Leon Ladner, K.C. "Why they didn't, I don't know."

TWO LETTERS SENT

Mr. Richmond, who now works for a private company, said he had written twice to Mr. Dunn during the summer of 1936, asking when the report would be published and telling him that Dr. John F. Walker, now Deputy Mines Minister, had full particulars of his suspicions.

Mr. Dunn replied that the matter was "having careful consideration," Mr. Richmond testified today.

Mr. Dunn died in the fall of 1936, some months before the report was finally published after a (Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

Screen Star Visits

LOUISE FAZENDA

Miss Fazenda, who is among the Hollywood screen stars who frequently come to Vancouver Island, arrived in Victoria, registered at the Empress Hotel and was away seeing friends in the city within a few minutes this afternoon. She first plans to stay a few days with friends here but declined to say who the friends were.

"I'd prefer not to, if you don't mind. You see this is not a pleasure trip," she commented. For those who have seen Miss Fazenda in many character parts and laughed with her and at her intriguing giggle, it would have been hard to recognize her as she went to the Empress Hotel. She appears much younger than would be expected by those who have seen her in the role of an elderly lady and the voice she uses for the "dumb" roles she often takes in the movies is far removed from her natural charming voice. Incidentally, she is far from dumb. In Hollywood she is a successful real estate operator.

The screen star registered and left the hotel, with her presence being known to few people. She registered in her name of Mrs. Wallis, being the wife of Hal Wallis, production manager for Warner Brothers.

QUAKE TOLL IN TURKEY 800

Total of Dead and Missing Grows as Rescuers Work; 50,000 Homeless

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—The Anatolia earthquake toll of dead and missing soared to at least 800 today after a night of continuing shocks which 50,000 homeless spent in mad terror.

Terrific underground rumblings were accompanied by intermittent earthquakes over a wide area of western Asia bordering the Aegean Sea, and especially about Kirshehr, Yozgad and Thorium.

Panic-stricken refugees fled from crevices full of boiling water.

Eighteen villages were utterly destroyed, and 22 others were badly damaged. Whole families were buried under mountainous debris. Most of the victims were women and children.

TOKIO (AP)—Emperor Hirohito received Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye in audience Thursday as the army moved to increase its striking power on the Shantung battlefield, scene of recent reverses for Japan's legions.

Fresh movements of troops from Japan to China also coincided with the return to Tokio of the powerful Minister of War, General Gen Sugiyama, from a 2,400-mile air tour of China war zones.

The premier's call at the palace was one of his first acts after returned to his office after a month's absence attributed to illness, during which domestic political tension, with rumors of Konoye's impending resignation, paralleled the military setbacks in China. The resignation reports have been denied.

What passed between the premier and his sovereign was cloaked by the official announcement Konoye merely had reported "on the status of matters under his jurisdiction."

The new troop movements are the first of large scale in many months.

Streets are filled with departing soldiers bidding farewell to their families, and the scenes are comparable to those of last September, when Japan entered the conflict in earnest and began moving large home forces to the front.

DESCRIBED AS NOVICE

The premier returned to work today after an absence of weeks, said to be due to illness, during which rumors grew he would resign in opposition to further extreme war measures urged by the military leaders.

Bluntly, the premier dealt with reports his Home Minister, Admiral Nobumasa Suetsugu, was active behind the scenes in organizing a new nationalistic (Fascist) party.

"The Home Minister is a novice in politics," Prince Konoye said. "He is no doubt aware he should be careful in his participation in these movements."

Admiral Suetsugu, in his own press interview a short time before that of the premier, said the critical situation sprang from military matters and admitted enforcement "seems difficult" for the government's "unchangeable" policy of obtaining a favorable, pro-Japanese regime in China.

The quakes first were felt about 1 p.m., Tuesday, and lasted until midnight. They started again Wednesday night.

sensational drop in the price of Hedley Amalgamated stock on the Vancouver Stock Exchange February 23, 1937.

NO PROOF THEN
Mr. Richmond was on the witness stand throughout the morning hearing. In cross-examination Mr. Ladner asked him why, in two conversations with Russell E. Barker, former Hedley president, after his resignation from the provincial mines department service, he had not told the mine president that he suspected the mine was salted.

"Because I had no proof," the witness replied. "Furthermore, Mr. Racey was then consulting engineer at the mine and I considered there was no need."

Mr. Richmond said that despite his belief the mine was salted, he thought there was "a medium to fair chance" to develop a paying mine on the property "if certain steps were taken."

In May, 1936, he offered his services to the company as a consultant to explore the mine's possibilities.

The witness testified that Barker told him in January, 1937, that he did not care what the provincial Department of Mines thought, he believed he had a mine at Hedley.

"It's our money we're spending," the witness said Barker told him.

Clement Carmichael, associate counsel with Mr. Ladner, walked out of the assize courtroom after Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald, trial judge, had rebuked him for "laughing."

Yesterday, Mr. Carmichael had spoken to Dugald Donaghy, crown counsel, about "making a burlesque" of proceedings by laughing during cross-examination of a crown witness. The judge overruled Mr. Carmichael at that time, but today, when Mr. Carmichael laughed softly as he talked to Mr. Ladner, the judge commented: "Who's laughing now?"

Mr. Carmichael immediately objected, declaring the remark created "an atmosphere." He was ordered to sit down, which he did. He got up again a few moments later and walked from the court.

HIS REASONS
Meyers had given the following reasons for the special session call:

More social security money; enabling legislation on low-cost housing projects; redistribution of gasoline and liquor revenues to relieve financially strained cities; increase of the 2 per cent sales tax to 3 per cent; increase of 5c a bottle on liquor sold in the state monopoly stores, and better equalization of school funds to aid poor school districts.

The governor's proclamation today said that in his opinion "there was no extraordinary occasion necessitating the convening of the Legislature in extraordinary session" at the time of Meyers' proclamation.

CHAIN BREAKS AND MAN DIES

Allan Patterson, 33, Cobble Hill, Succumbs After Accident Up-Island

Allan Patterson, 33, Cobble Hill, who was seriously injured in an accident on April 11 at Jones' Logging Camp on the Malahat, died this morning at 2:25 in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mr. Patterson was struck by a loading chain, which snapped as he was loading ties at the logging camp. Thrown from the truck to the ground he was severely hurt and was rushed to hospital.

He had been a resident of the island for several years, being engaged in hauling ties from various camps.

The death has been reported to Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, who will make further inquiries before deciding whether or not an inquest will be held.

Mr. Patterson is survived by his widow and two children, Gerald and Jean, at Mill Bay, and his mother, Mrs. Belle Patterson; one sister, Miss Aurel Patterson, and one brother, Lloyd Patterson, all in Vancouver.

Funeral services will be held at Sands Mortuary. Arrangements for the service will be announced later.

INVESTMENTS ARE DEFENDED

Lord McGowan, defending the company's handling of marketable investments, said there had been a net capital profit of $3,600,000 on investment transactions since the company was formed 11 years ago.

"On the whole," he said, "I am sure the figures will convince the stockholders that the board's investment policy has not been unjustified by its results and that the suggestion that stockholders have suffered in dividends through losses on investments is entirely without foundation."

The financial editor of the London Evening Standard commented: Lord McGowan had "scored a personal triumph" at the meeting.

RUMORS RECALLED

On March 1, when the investment policy of Imperial Chemicals was the subject of wild rumors in the London financial district, Lord McGowan relinquished the post of sole managing director, but remained as chairman of the board. The Daily Mail at that time quoted him as saying "the announcement of my ceasing to be managing director of Imperial Industries was made to counteract certain rumors."

Lord McGowan is a director of the International Nickel Company of Canada.

In his address to the meeting in Queen's Hall today, Lord McGowan said the industrial situation in the United States might cause the company to consider revising certain of its investment policies.

"During recent months," he added, "a new factor has been introduced by the fundamental economic changes which are taking place in the United States."

"Differences between labor and capital and those between business and the President seem so deep-seated as to throw some doubt on the future trend of the earning capacity of American industry."

"Possibly these changes are so fundamental that an investment policy which was right in the past may now need revision."

"We have been strongly urged to hold all our investment reserves in cash."

"Judgment on these and other factors is by no means easy. . . . The board's duty as they conceive it is not to be influenced by day-to-day movements but to follow the wisest course over a period of years. . . ."

Lord McGowan said only a "very small percentage of the activities of Imperial Chemical Industries depends on armament orders."

"In common with other industrialists in this country," he added, "it is our duty to assist the government in every way we can and execute and expedite the British rearmament program."

"But nothing would please us more than a world situation in which none of our products would be required for war or defensive purposes. That, however, is an idle dream, for we have to deal with world facts as they are."

She also went riding with Princess Margaret and her father, the King.

Among presents she opened first today was one from Uncle David—the Duke of Windsor—sent from France as was a similar gift by the ex-king last year. What it was, no one outside the royal circle knew.

NEW CANADIAN PLANE PLANTS
British Mission on Way to U.S. May Make Large Arrangements

LONDON (CP-Havas) — Although it was reported in usually well-informed quarters that 500 military airplanes might be purchased in the United States by the British mission which sailed Wednesday for an investigation in that country and Canada, difficulties in the way of the group were emphasized today by Major F. A. Robertson, writing in the Manchester Guardian.

"Two things are certain," he said, "In the American inquiry which Air Commodore J. G. Weir and his companions are to make. First, it would be a bad thing to multiply the number of types in any one class of aircraft used by the Royal Air Force, and secondly, if American manufacturers were to build types of British design it would take longer for them to get these types into production than it would take for British firms to complete preparations which are already under way."

BRANCH FACTORIES
"It would not be surprising if the mission were to investigate the possibility of manufacturing British types in Canada. Several American aircraft firms have branches and factories there, and there are also some British Empire firms, such as Canadian Vickers."

"But Canada is now increasing her air force, and that will probably keep most Canadian firms busy for some time."

Other sources said new plants might be set up in Canada in order to assure Britain of an adequate supply of planes in time of war. Motors and airplane bodies could be made in Canada, they said, and assembled in England.

The possibility was even discussed that under war-time conditions Canadian-built planes might be flown to Britain, thus evading the danger of destruction by submarine attacks on shipping.

New Story About Grey Owl's Birth

Late Naturalist Born Near Hudson Bay, Says Ontario Indian

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Controversy over whether Grey Owl, the famed naturalist who died in Saskatchewan last week, was of Indian birth struck a new note here today with the declaration by Howard Seymour that Grey Owl actually was born of Indian parents near Hudson Bay.

Grey Owl enlisted in the Great War under the name of Archie Belaney and it was generally accepted he was a son of a Scotsman born in the United States and an Apache Indian mother, and was born in northern Mexico.

Seymour, Algonquin Indian guide known also as Lone Eagle, declared here Grey Owl was his first cousin and he had proof of his birth of Indian parents near Hudson Bay.

Seymour declared Grey Owl was the son of Howard Seymour, full-blooded Algonquin, and a woman largely of Indian blood who was raised by an English family at a Hudson's Bay Company post in the north. He said Grey Owl was born on a reserve in the Northwest Territories.

LIVED IN ENGLAND
The father died soon after Grey Owl's birth and, according to Seymour, the mother and her small son returned to the English family with whom he had lived and went with them to England, where they lived until Grey Owl returned to Canada with an English education.

Seymour said the English education and manners that Grey Owl acquired in his youth in England were probably the basis of the claims now made that Grey Owl was not of Indian blood.

Seymour said he had family papers in the west that trace his family's history and that he himself was named after Grey Owl's father, John Joseph Howard Seymour.

BRITISH PRESS DEBATE
LONDON (CP)—The British Press today continued to interest itself in Grey Owl, the naturalist who died last week in Saskatchewan, where he had made his home. The question is whether he was an Indian half-breed, as he himself maintained, or Archibald Belaney, Englishman with no Indian blood.

Latest development is a letter published in the London News Chronicle as one sent by Belaney's mother from Devon to her sister at Hastings.

"I write with regret of the passing of my beloved son," the letter said. "It is the passing of a great man with a soul so unique that never has there been anyone like him."

The Star announces a long serial autobiography of Grey Owl.

"What does it matter if he never was a red Indian, but a paleface who persuaded the Indians to believe he was one of them?" the Express asked editorially. "You can forgive him the deception, for it hurt nobody."

He preached a gospel of tolerance towards the animal world, not for sentimental reasons but because 'it is just sense.' He was a man who had courage to tell the civilized world it still had much to learn."

The Manchester Guardian says that for his work he will be gratefully remembered when speculation as to his birthplace and race is forgotten.

NEED SEEN FOR NEW SETTLERS

G. C. Neff Urges 5,000 Families a Year For Canada on Assisted Plan

Canada should absorb 5,000 families from Britain each year under the Hornby plan of assisted settlement, Garnet C. Neff, K.C., Grenfell, Sask., declared in an address under the auspices of Victoria Conservative Association last night in the Campbell Building.

Mr. Neff said park lands on the prairies and favorable areas of British Columbia could be settled with 100-family units. Drawn from Britain they would be assured of financial support to set up mixed subsistence farming. If failing to make good in five years they would be returned.

The speaker said the percentage of foreign-born population in Canada was rising because of a laissez faire attitude toward British settlement. Canada, he declared, was drifting in the matter of immigration. It had no settled policy while other Empire dominions were benefiting.

He argued that new settlement would create fresh opportunities for labor, large markets for manufactured goods, and since it would be on a subsistence basis would not compete in agricultural production.

J. W. Jones moved thanks to the speaker. R. D. Harvey presided.

J. S. TAYLOR IS NOT ACCEPTED

Nanaimo Liberals Refuse to Endorse Member's Plan to Switch Allegiance

DUNCAN — Liberals of Nanaimo federal riding will not endorse J. S. Taylor, M.P., as their representative at Ottawa.

At the annual convention here yesterday 128 delegates from all parts of the riding decided that Mr. Taylor's letter asking their backing to change his status in the House of Commons to Liberal should be "received and filed."

Mr. Taylor was originally elected as a C.C.F. candidate, was ousted by that party after he supported Rev. Robert Connell in the split within the provincial ranks, and has acted as an Independent in the House. Recently he made overtures to the Liberals.

An amendment to the motion filing Mr. Taylor's letter was moved calling on him to resign, but this was voted down, as the majority of delegates decided they did not want to attempt to influence his actions.

Arthur Leighton of Nanaimo was returned as president of the association, and J. King of Ladysmith was chosen secretary, succeeding C. C. Johnson of Duncan, who retired.

A new constitution was adopted. One of its most important changes is that representation in the association shall be by federal polling divisions instead of district associations.

ALBERNI WILL VOTE ON BEER

PORT ALBERNI—Port Alberni voters soon may decide by ballot whether they still want beer parlors. Move for a plebiscite was initiated at the city council meeting Tuesday.

For some time there has been talk of having a plebiscite submitted to the voters, and the subject was brought to a head by Alderman J. M. Grossland, chairman of the finance committee, when he drew the attention of the members of the council to the fact that beer parlors operating in the city could neither be taxed nor licensed and were a source of expense to the corporation. The government made money, the brewery made money, and the beer parlors made money, while the city was left holding the sack he said.

"I am not opposed to beer parlors on any moral ground, but they pay no revenue to the city. It is suggested that beer parlors pay something towards the general rates, said Alderman Crossland.

"Alderman Crossland is correct," stated mayor Hamilton. "The city does not get one cent from the beer parlors." Alderman E. A. D. Jones was also of the opinion that the city was the loser. "The men get drunk in beer parlors and the city pays to keep them in Oakalla," he said.

On motion of Alderman Crossland, seconded by Alderman Jones, the matter was referred to Gordon M. Campbell, city solicitor, to bring in a report on the necessary procedure to have a plebiscite submitted to the voters.

TO ORGANIZE BUS DRIVERS

An organization meeting for bus drivers of Victoria will be held next week in the Trades and Labor Hall it was reported to the Trades and Labor Council last night.

At the meeting, local drivers will hear Fred Hoover, international organizer. The meeting has been arranged by the organization committee of the Trades Council, it was reported by Ernest Belton, a member of the committee.

A report of the recent meeting at which the Forum Association was formed to take charge of plans for building Victoria's civic centre, was presented by Edwin Fox, president of the council. The report, together with the association's request for a donation toward incidental expenses, was tabled.

Charles Chivers, carpenter's delegate, reported an increase of five cents an hour to 75 cents would become effective in carpenter's wages on May 1. A similar increase would follow on September, he said.

Delegates seated at the meeting included R. Buller of the Stage Employees' Union and two representatives from the Relief Project Workers' Union. The latter two were seated but did not take the usual oath since they will not have voting power.

The council accepted an invitation to send two delegates to a conference of unemployed to be held at 564 Yates Street on May 3.

Deal With Realities

MOST REV. A. U. dePENCIER, ARCH-BISHOP of New Westminster, says that to compel British Columbia couples to undergo physical examinations with blood tests would be an "invasion of individual rights and liberties." He so expressed himself in Vancouver yesterday when asked what he thought of the alteration to this part of the marriage law which Hon. George M. Weir, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Education, is now advocating.

Our position on the subject of the inviolability of individual rights and liberties of the people is too well known to need repetition here. The interpretation which Archbishop dePencier has put on Hon. George Weir's proposal, however, is so completely in conflict with an ordinary common-sense outlook that it cannot be allowed to pass without comment. The eminent divine quite properly observes, by implication, that he would probably change his mind if the people as a whole were overwhelmingly in favor of such tests as the Provincial Secretary advocates; but he explains this concession to his considered judgment by declaring that "if the parents are taught to educate their children, as they should, such tests would be unnecessary."

We are living in a world of stern realities. Let us accept that statement as true. We have thus to face the fact that there are living in Canada today thousands of young men and women suffering, mentally or physically, or both—actively or passively—from the effects of syphilis bequeathed to them unwittingly by their parents. There are similarly thousands of young men and women who have contracted the disease themselves, either by careless living or by sheer accident, who are naturally looking forward to the day when they will want to set up housekeeping on their own account and have a family of their own.

The question arises: Would Archbishop dePencier seriously suggest, for example, that we continue a practice which permits any young man or woman with a syphilitic parental history—or subjects in which the disease had originated and is now in an arrested state—to marry without the most rigid mental and physical examination? It is hardly conceivable that he would consider it an "invasion of individual rights and liberties" were the most drastic means known to science taken to protect such young people from a life of horrors of which they know nothing. As matters stand at present there are no safeguards such as those Dr. Weir wants to establish. No minister of the gospel or any agency for the solemnization of marriage is able to glean anything about the fitness, or otherwise, of those who want to be joined in wedlock. Only the fit would be able to obtain a marriage license under the test plan.

We agree with Archbishop dePencier, of course, when he suggests that parental guidance would help to produce a race free of venereal disease. Like the indispensable man, however, the perfect couple have yet to be born. On the other hand, the urgency for action now—if any statistical argument were needed to emphasize the point—is reflected in the fact that in the United States in the year 1935 the number of new cases of syphilis was 518,000 and of the new cases of gonorrhea no fewer than 1,037,000. Practically the same per capita proportion will apply to Canada.

More For Franco

THE EXTENT OF GERMAN, ITALIAN and Portuguese participation in the Spanish affair is emphasized in the statements made in Barcelona by captive German aviators. These reports confirm the generally accepted fact that Italians and Germans have air bases on the island of Majorca, with 700 German and Italian planes in rebel Spain, all manned with German and Italian crews. Forty German Heinkel, model 111, arrived shortly before the Aragon offensive began, while on February 24, 1,000 Italians and on March 5, 2,100 more Italians were landed in Spain. Two thousand Portuguese also joined on February 24. The Italian regular troops total 75,000 men—three complete Italian divisions—not counting special-artillery, engineering and tank units.

An exchange of congratulatory messages between Franco and Hitler only recently emphasized "the keen interest the Reich takes in your winning struggle." Italy was even more outspoken. In a document published on the anniversary of the Fascist Party, March 23, the Fascist Directorate wrote: "We rejoice that the valor of the Italian legionnaires once again became an essential factor of victory in Spain. Italians who within and without the frontiers live and act closely around Il Duce, the infallible power of our fatherland knows that there will follow on the western shores of the Mediterranean a collapse of barbarous Bolshevism and a triumph of new civilization in the name of Premier Mussolini."

Coming as it did at the very time of the Anglo-Italian negotiations recently concluded, this declaration was apparently swallowed willingly by Mr. Chamberlain.

Old Swimming Hole

MANY LONG-TIME RESIDENTS WILL regret with the younger generation that a part of the Gorge has been found unfit for bathing.

Since Victoria was founded the Gorge has been one of its prized beauty spots. Thousands of Victorians can recall the days when as boys the Gorge spelled the height of summer joys and they trekked there day after day to plunge into its cooling waters, bask in the sunshine on grassy banks, and lazily fish for perch, or herring.

Many recall it as the old swimming hole where they experienced the exhilaration of mastering the first few strokes which stamped them as swimmers. They will recall later, perhaps, the days when they hired their first canoe or boat and joined scores of others enjoying a day on the water. It has been the scene of many memorable galas, May 24, and other celebrations. The motor car robbed it of some of its popularity as people got the habit of driving to more distant parts. But in later years it had regained its popularity and the old swimming hole of former years had again become the mecca for hundreds of children and many family parties on Sundays and holidays.

It is rather distressing to read that Dr. Richard Felton, Victoria medical health officer, after a visit in company with Thomas Lancaster, city sanitary officer, has been forced to warn the city council of a health menace there. Creeks emptying into the north side of the Gorge between the public bathing house and the Gorge Bridge, one of the most beautiful parts of the whole Gorge, receive the sewerage from houses on the east side of the Gorge Road. Obviously this makes it unfit for bathing.

One can sympathize with Saanich in its efforts to keep down taxation, but the question arises whether the efforts are not going beyond the bounds of common sense. Saanich has enjoyed a modest building boom recently and many people from outside points are among those who have built homes there. News, however, that inadequate sewerage developments to keep pace with the progress has caused waters in the district to become a menace to health, will not put the municipality in a favorable light. It is quite probable, too, that the taxpayers of the municipality would willingly accept a little more taxation with the knowledge that they were to receive for it the improvements which are essential. An attractive sheet of water like the Gorge should retain its appeal, especially to river and sea-starved prairie people—rather than become a health menace.

Pensioners Live Longer

BITISH COLUMBIA TEACHERS FEAR the undermining of their pension scheme through overloading. New pensioners are being pushed out of active service on to it, while old pensioners are not dying off fast enough. The reserve fund of $1,500,000 is still intact, but from now on it must be drawn upon to keep up payments to those entitled to them. For the fund to be paying out more than is paid into it, plus what it earns on its investments, would be unsound. It would be unfortunate ultimately for all who have been contributing in expectation of retirement benefits.

Such overloading is not peculiar to the B.C. organization. New York state teachers are facing a similar problem in the matter of their Retirement Fund. Their board's annual report points out that teachers are now living longer than the average span on which the rate tables were computed. The longer they live, the longer they enjoy their pensions. But if their longevity increases, the payment of working teachers to the fund will have to be increased.

Increased security and freedom from worry given by the existence of their retirement fund, it has been suggested, has been conducive to an increased longevity on the part of the eastern teachers, and the same can be said of the teachers here. The statisticians call this a vicious circle; the higher the pensions, the longer teachers live; the longer they live, the greater the financial burden on the retirement fund. We would like to see more of such vicious circles.

China's Civilizers

EXPLANATION BY A JAPANESE Army spokesman in Shanghai, questioned as to what would happen to Japanese enlisted men who have been captured by the Chinese forces:

"Enlisted men captured probably will kill themselves on being released or will be court-martialed."

Notes

As one of the blessings of conquest, living costs in Japan have mounted 7 per cent since last July, and the rise is gaining momentum as the "pacification" of China proceeds.

NEW TIMBER ERA

Leander Manley of Vancouver before the Seattle Advertising Club:

The forest fame of the Pacific Northwest was built on the domestic and export values of the stately Douglas fir. But the forest wealth of the future will be derived from vast forests of hemlock and spruce.

There are great reserves of these species on the Pacific Coast areas of the Northwest where their growth is rapid and abundant. They are merchantable and commercially valuable after 40 years of growth. They grow thick like wheat in a field. On the other hand, a Douglas fir must attain at least 80 to 100 years of growth to be of commercial value.

We are well over the threshold of a new era in the timber industry of the Pacific Northwest... and this new era will demand hemlock and spruce for by far the greatest proportion of its timber consumption and utilization.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

DILIGENT PROHIBITIONIST

THE REV. R. J. McINTYRE of Vancouver, who is the World's Greatest Optimist, believing still in the possibility of prohibiting strong drink among the rough peasantry of this country, has just completed a monumental calculation. He, or somebody else, has sent it to me, apparently as a warning against a misspent life. This calculation shows that if British Columbia had spent on useful things the money it spent on liquor last year it could have kept 10,000 poor families in comfort.

It could have rented 10,000 houses and furnished them and bought 25,000 100-pound sacks of sugar, 25,000 100-pound sacks of flour, 25,000 100-pound sacks of potatoes, 25,000 100-pound sacks of carrots, 2,000,000 pounds of beef, 2,000,000 pounds of bacon, 200,000 pounds of cheese, 50,000 tons of coal, 20,000 loads of wood, 25,000 suits of clothes, 25,000 dresses, 20,000 boys' suits, 20,000 girls' dresses, 25,000 pairs of men's boots, 25,000 pairs of women's shoes, 40,000 pairs of children's shoes, 20,000 men's hats, 20,000 women's hats, 50,000 pairs of blankets, 2,000,000 quarts of milk, 2,000,000 loaves of bread, 300,000 pounds of butter, 300,000 dozen eggs, 100,000 boxes of apples, 25,000 life insurance policies of $1,000 each.

Finally, 25,000 people could have been given a bank account of $100 each and there would have been enough over to build a new $1,000,000 Y.M.C.A. building, $400,000 for welfare work and $50,000 for Christmas cheer (non-spiritual).

It must have taken the good doctor a long time to figure that out. You are gasping by the time you have read the list. But it is no use. It won't stop anybody drinking, for it presupposes that people want to be sensible. People don't want to be sensible. If they did, if they suddenly became sensible, our whole economy would collapse, because it is built largely on idiotic luxuries which employ us in their manufacture. And if the drink bill weren't spent on drink, it wouldn't be used to put 10,000 worthy families on their feet. It would be spent on automobiles or on movies or cigarettes or blondes.

Nevertheless, the doctor's figures show you that we are a rich people who could well afford to run our country properly if we wanted to. But some people would miss a lot of fun.

PENSIONS

A LEADING AMERICAN authority on politics has just hit upon a brilliant idea which, he believes, would save American politics. He would simply pension all members of Congress. This, you say, is too simple; but perhaps, like me, you know nothing of politics. The trouble with politics, says this authority, is that politicians must bribe the electorate with their own money, spending huge sums to satisfy the local voters—a system which has flourished so happily in British Columbia that we now have a net debt of some $153,000,000.

Now all this bribery of the electorate occurs, says this expert, because the politicians want to be re-elected. That, of course, is the basic trouble with all democracy—politicians want to be re-elected. If we could get even 50 members of the Canadian House of Commons who didn't want to be re-elected, who would tell the public the truth about itself and do what was good for the country regardless of consequences, then things would change for the better overnight. Democracy, now almost out for the count, would rise again.

Well, the reason politicians want to get re-elected is that, once in office, they lose their jobs at home or their business goes to pot. Soon they have no source of income but politics. They must get re-elected or their children will starve. So they give the local electorate what it wants, and local electorates, like children, never know what is good for them.

To avert this trouble the American observer proposes to pension all Congressmen for life at their present official salary of $10,000 a year. This, he shows, would build up a maximum pension cost of $10,000,000 a year after 20 years. But Congressmen with no wish or hope of re-election would save 100 times that much without the slightest difficulty. In Canada, with only 245 members of the House of Commons to pension at $3,600 a year (the Senate being pensioned for life already) the cost would never be more than about $1,000,000 a year. Our politicians could save 20 times that much without extending their intelligence unduly. But, more valuable than the saving of money, the electors would begin to learn an obvious fact now universally overlooked, that they have to pay all the money which is used to bribe them. Then we might begin to get really good government. The sooner we start pensioning our politicians the better. It will be the best investment we ever made.

TEN MILLION BUGS

From Ottawa Citizen

Flying Clipper planes have carried 10,000,000 passengers in the last year that have not signed the guest register, but they have been important passengers just the same. Ten million bugs.

The latest of these were flown in fighting divisions of 10,000 each from the banks of the Amazon to the West Indies, 2,000 miles away, and they saved the sugar crop on several of the lower islands.

These islands had been attacked, literally, by sugar cane borers, and the efforts of scientists were unavailing. Thousands of gallons of insecticide had been sprayed over the fields of cane. Acres of the infected land had been burned. The borer marched on.

So science turned to another continent for the famous "Amazon Fly," natural enemy of the borer. Previous attempts to ship the insects by steamer had failed. They died en route. But this time they were loaded in "bug pullmans" by the 10,000, flown to the West Indies, and freed. In a few weeks the borer had been reduced to the status of a minor pest.

Battleship Costs Soar to As High As $100,000,000 a Ship

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON. LAST month a first-class battleship for the United States Navy was estimated to cost about $70,000,000.

Today, according to confidential estimates of naval officers, the cost can be placed somewhere around $100,000,000.

The increase is due to the fact that the navy department and the administration now recommend 45,000-ton ships, having abandoned the old 35,000-ton treaty limit.

With costs rising in this and in other ways, little if anything is being done to see that the taxpayers get their money's worth from what originally was called an $800,000,000 naval expansion program, but more lately has been described as a $1,121,000,000 measure which is fairly sure to be much more expensive by the time shipbuilders have presented their bids.

ODD HAPPENINGS

Although many complaints have come from administration throats against prices and rates of profit in other industries, no one here seems to have a clear idea what the profit rate is on battleships. There have been some curious incidents, however, which indicate that certain critics may be correct when they say the legally fixed profit limit of 10 per cent doesn't mean anything under certain methods of accounting.

Last year private shipyards bid $49,870,000 and $47,829,000 on two battleships, while government navy yards bid $37,265,000 and $36,789,000. The average difference was $11,827,000. At the present time the navy yards are full, and private yards are sure to build the new ships.

Congressman Southoff thinks the difference between what private yards will charge and what navy yards would bid will be around $35,000,000 on the three proposed dreadnaughts, but admits that is only a guess.

BIG DIFFERENCE

Interstate Commerce Commission engineers once discovered that the 1929 cruisers averaged $1,429,000 apiece cheaper when produced by navy yards, although the government paid its workers $558,000 per cruiser for annual leaves and holidays, and wages were some 20 per cent higher than in private yards. Taxes and other expenses paid by private yards but not by navy yards were listed at about $156,000. The Senate Munitions Committee found that the navy yard-private yard difference on 1927 cruisers was $2,116,304 per cruiser.

Ambassador Joe Kennedy, until recently chairman of the Maritime Commission, charged that some fairly stiff bids had been made last year for construction of merchant marine vessels but that when the private shipyards saw the big naval contracts among their boosted bids for merchant marine vessels by as much as 50 per cent.

RHODES SCHOLARS

From Ottawa Journal

Comes the mayor of one of our principal cities to proclaim that "out of our 232 Rhodes Scholars not a single one ever attained national fame or great wealth."

Let us see, first about "national fame." Among Rhodes Scholars we can think of off-hand are: Norman Rogers, Dominion Minister of Labor; Thane A. Campbell, Premier of Prince Edward Island; J. B. McNair, Attorney-General of New Brunswick; Rt. Rev. L. Ralph Sherman, Anglican Bishop of Calgary; Norman S. Macdonnell, Justice of the Supreme Court of Ontario; J. M. Macdonnell, general manager of the National Trust Company; Terence W. L. MacDermott, principal of Upper Canada College; George V. Ferguson, managing editor of the Winnipeg Free Press; William G. Ernst, former member of the Bennett Ministry; Joseph T. Thorson, member of Parliament; Gladstone Murray, general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Rhodes Scholarships may not have fulfilled all the hopes of the great dreamer and builder who founded them. They have been a rich contribution to the world; a

China Deals Proud Nippon Terrific Blow

Hallet Abend in N.Y. Times

SHANGHAI—Japan, despite the official derisive denials concerning the Hankow government's claims of victories in Southern Shantung, has met with the first great military disaster in her modern history—and this disaster has been one of the first magnitude.

Late in March the Japanese army along the Hanchwang-Tai line numbered 62,000 men, including the crack divisions of Major-General Rensuke Isogai, Japan's military attaché in China just before the outbreak of the war, and Lieutenant-General Selsiro Itagaki, who was chief of staff in the Japanese army in Manchukuo.

If today there are 20,000 of those men alive, all the foreign military experts in Shanghai and Hankow will be amazed.

So great has been the debacle that when the Japanese retreated they even abandoned their dead and wounded, a thing hitherto unknown in modern Japanese military history.

OVERCONFIDENCE and surprise Chinese strategy, largely devised by foreign advisers, are responsible for this amazing overturn.

The Chinese positions along the Tai-changwang-Schow sector have been in preparation since 1933, their co-ordinated lines there having required enough concrete to erect several Empire State Buildings.

Driving southward along the Tientsin-Pukow Railway, 60,000 odd Japanese began pounding against these positions, but they did not yield.

Then the countryside became filled with innocent-looking Chinese farmers who were really disguised soldiers and who began infiltrating along the Japanese lines of communications, cutting the railway and diverting canals and streams across the right of way. Soon communications with the Japanese bases ceased, whereupon airplanes attempted dropping food and munitions, but this proved insufficient.

Then the Japanese began experiencing a shortage of gasoline, necessitating abandoning tanks, trucks and ambulances. This shortage soon extended to artillery supplies, and 10 days ago exhausted shells and six-inch and nine-inch howitzers.

THE DESPERATE Japanese soldiers might have dismembered the guns and flung the pieces at their foes, but otherwise their artillery was useless. They found themselves facing about 250,000 infuriated Chinese soldiers, and then the retreat and slaughter began.

It was just before this that the Japanese war minister, General Gen Sugiyama, had flown from Tokyo to Peiping with attempts at secrecy to demand what was checking the Japanese advance, and General Count Juichi Terachi, director-general of military education, was understood to have radioed orders to the front to keep pounding the Chinese lines, saying that reinforcements were en route. But there were no reinforcements did not arrive because the railway had been extensively damaged.

Japan is now preparing a slashing counter-attack, seeking to make all possible haste before the facts are widely known abroad and at home. Already two divisions have sailed from the Shanghai area for Shantung, and two other divisions from North China have sailed from Tangu for Shantung.

Dairy Appeals Are Completed

Judgments Reserved in Two Cases Before Court of Appeal Here

Judgments were reserved on two distinct appeals from police court convictions against Vancouver dairies when those cases were completed before the Court of Appeal yesterday afternoon.

On behalf of Hoy's Crescent Dairy Ltd., D. N. Hossie, K.C., appealed the magistrate's ruling which convicted the concern for contravention of the B.C. Milk Marketing Act.

Counsel explained Hoy's Crescent Dairy was one of 16 convicted by a police magistrate for failure to secure required licenses for distribution of milk in specified areas. Appeals had been taken on the other cases before a County Court judge, counsel said, but the Hoy case had been used as a stated case and gone to the Supreme Court.

Mr. Hossie took as his first point that the Milk Marketing Act was ultra vires, pending the outcome of an appeal being carried to the Privy Council.

CLAIMS ORDER ULTRA VIRES
On the more immediate issue, counsel held Order No. 8, dealing with the licensing, was ultra vires in itself. He claimed the order was discriminatory, attempted to do indirectly what the Milk Marketing Board had no power to do directly, and that the licensing portion was not within the bounds of the act.

L. Salter appeared with Mr. Hossie, while R. L. Maitland, K.C., represented the Crown respondent.

In the second case, against the Crystal Dairy, also of Vancouver, Mr. Hossie appealed on the grounds the conviction in the magistrate's court had been for the same offense as that on which an early conviction had been made. The penalty clause in the marketing act could not permit conviction twice on the same offense, he said.

In Argentina she will broadcast every day, as well as appearing with the band in theatres and night clubs.

ACTRESS HONORED

Messages from the King and Queen and Queen Mary were among the tributes received by Miss Julia Neilson at a celebration luncheon held this week in honor of the 50th anniversary of her first appearance on the stage. A poem by Mr. A. P. Herbert appeared on the menu, one verse of which ran:

"O mistress of a hundred arts,
You never learned to be unkind,
The conqueror of countless hearts,
You did not wound a single mind."

NUFFIELD GIFT

Naval Men Guests At Government House

Lieut.-Governor and Mrs. Hamber Entertained at Dinner and Ball Last Night for Officers; Beautiful Flowers

With the return to Esquimalt of the four destroyers, Victoria is recapturing something of the color of the old days when many of its social functions revolved around the navy and the blue and gold of the uniform was a familiar sight at parties. Last night at Government House, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Hamber entertained at a dinner, followed by a ball, in honor of the officers, the affair being the highlight of a week of gaiety inspired by the arrival of the division.

THE DINNER GUESTS

Covers for 40 guests were laid in the dining-room, the table being centred with an exquisite arrangement of pink tulips, daffodils, narcissi, lilies, with tall gold tapers in silver candelabra. The dinner guests included: Capt. V. G. Brodeur, Commander and Mrs. C. T. Beard, Commander and Mrs. J. E. W. Oland, Engineer-Commander and Mrs. G. L. Stevens, Commander and Mrs. Rupert W. Wood, Commander and Mrs. H. E. Reid, Commander and Mrs. W. J. R. Beech, Lieut.-Commander and Mrs. A. N. Hope, Hon. T. D. Pattullo and Mrs. Pattullo, Brigadier and Mrs. D. J. Masses of exotic blooms mingled with spring blossoms to lend colorful background to the gay scene. In the entrance hall cinerarias of hues ranging from deep purple to pinky-mauve nuances were allied with exquisite hydrangeas, similar flowers being also banked with palms in the ballroom, where dancing took place. Great bowls of cherry blossom were also placed at vantage points around the ballroom and in the sunroom.

His Honor and Mrs. Hamber received in the drawing-room, which was decorated with huge bowls of flame-colored anemones and daffodils, deep pink roses, pale and deeper pink carnations with maidenhair fern, pink hydrangeas and one particularly lovely bowl of Calla lilies.

Mrs. Hamber was gowned in filmy white neederun lace, with very bouffant skirt. A broad band of deift-blue moire ribbon was threaded beneath the bodice and carried to the back, where it was tied in a huge, bustle-like bow. With it she wore a diamond tiara and rows of pearls.

In attendance as aides-de-camp were Capt. W. H. Molson, Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown, Major M. W. Turner, Lieut.-Col. Vincent McKenna, Lieut.-Col. Hugh Allan, Lieut.-Commander Donaldson,

Broadcasts Disappointing

School Principals Approve Radio Idea But Find Programs Could Be Improved

Educational broadcasts, with which the Department of Education has been experimenting since mid-March, were endorsed in principle but came in for criticism in detail during discussion at the B.C. Teachers' Convention here yesterday by school principles.

After A. R. Lord, principal of the Provincial Normal School, Vancouver, and secretary of the department's radio committee, had outlined the work being done and asked for comment, C. H. E.
Green, principal of Quadra Street School, Victoria, rose to express disappointment with the quality of recent music appreciation and historical dramatization broadcasts.

"The broadcasts have not improved as much as we had hoped to see them improve," he said.
He attacked the quality of the execution in a recent music appreciation broadcast. His staff had been disappointed in history broadcasts, he said, and the script of the last historical play, entitled "The Lure for Gold," had been generally criticized by his staff as stressing a fight over a woman rather than gold-mining.

The broadcasts from Vancouver are very good but not equal to those from the National Broadcasting and Columbia systems," said Mr. Green. "We can hear Damrosch and other good symphony concerts over the southern chains, but I am told that some of the concerts from CBR are put on by school orchestras."

Arthur Sutton of Prince Rupert deplored the fact that outside parts of British Columbia were "left in the cold" in connection with the broadcasts and he suggested that electrical transcriptions be sent to local stations in places where CBR was difficult to listen to.

Mr. Lord explained the broadcasts were given twice a week over CBR, Vancouver, and stations in the interior with the cooperation of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. He said Ottawa was waiting for the conclusion of the British Columbia experimental series before carrying on with a national school broadcast program already discussed in Ontario.

The principals adopted a resolution urging the Department of Education to discontinue the administration of tests in art, music and health to Grade 8 students, because they considered the tests invalid as stressing theory rather than art and music appreciation and health practice as intended by the course.

Resolutions urging the board of governors of the University of British Columbia not to increase the winter session fee, and to reduce the summer session fee to the same level as that for the winter session were passed.

Dr. J. S. Klinck, president of the University, was present at the meeting, but refused to comment.

C. E. Clay, principal of Armstrong Consolidated School, in moving the resolutions, said his own district had not sent a student to the University in seven years, a fact that had a noticeable effect on the character of the district, and that increased fees would bring about the same result in other districts.

Dr. H. B. King, technical adviser to the Department of Education, said teachers had responded very well to the new program of studies, and students and parents seemed delighted with it.
Teachers must no longer expect inspectors to require the former factual knowledge. Under the new curriculum the various subjects must be integrated. For instance, history should be taught through pageantry, dramatization, and a study of the arts of the period.

Reading was important, and no high schools would be accredited unless they had proper library facilities. Records must also be kept.

Dr. King attacked the practice in some schools of using study periods for other work, and said properly-guided study was an essential part of the curriculum.

The principals who are members of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation banded together yesterday into a formal association. Previously they have had an unofficial organization.

W. R. McDougall, North Vancouver High School, was elected president of the new association, and N. M. McDonald, Burnaby, vice-president. Alec Turnbull,
New Westminster, was nominated secretary, but was not present to accept the appointment.

New Constitution Calls For Rural Teachers to Get Representation

A new constitution making for more effective organization was adopted by the B.C. Secondary School Teachers' Association at a meeting in the Empress Hotel yesterday in connection with the 19th annual convention of the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

In adopting the constitution the association added a resolution that rural teachers be given proper representation in the body.
The constitution outlines the aims of the association as being to provide for better co-operation between various sections of the teachers' federation and the furthering of economic and professional welfare of teachers, as well as a better exchange of professional opinion between secondary teachers.

Membership is open to members of the federation who are on the staffs of superior schools and junior and senior high schools, either as principals or as classroom teachers in secondary school subjects.

William J. Logie of Kelowna was elected president, and William Alsbury of Vancouver was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the association.

In a study of foods eaten by 1,000 healthy persons, it was found that both cheese and milk rarely cause digestive trouble in the normal person.

TELLS OF WORK OF GEOLOGISTS

Dr. J. S. Stevenson Speaker at Meeting of the Astronomical Society

"Microscopic Studies of Ores," was the subject of a lecture by Dr. John S. Stevenson, associate mining engineer of the Department of Mines of British Columbia, before a meeting of the Victoria branch of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada held in the Y.W.C.A. auditorium.

Gordon Shaw, chairman for the meeting, introduced the speaker.

DETERMINES FINER DETAILS
"The microscope is used to determine the finer details in the study of ore bodies," the speaker said.

From a distance of about 10 inches, the naked eye can detect formations approximately 150 microns apart. With the microscope, the detecting of formations is cut down to around two-tenths of a micron thus enabling the determining of mineralogical compositions as well as many other detailed characteristics to be accomplished.

In regard to the metallurgical treatment of ores, the large pieces mined are first pulverized to a fine dust or sand, Dr. Stevenson explained. This is chemically treated by flotation and cyanida-tion to a concentrate. In the smelter, the native metal is obtained from the concentrate. The microscope is used to determine different changes that might take place in regard to the particles of the native metal.

DIAGNOSTIC FEATURES
The speaker described in detail, with the aid of slides, the preparation of a mineral for detailed microscopic study. The main diagnostic features determined are color, hardness, behavior in polarized light, acid and alkali reactions or etchings, and microchemistry aid.

Dr. Stevenson said that ordinarily an ore is part of a geological body from which ores can be mined to a profit. An ore is usually a mixture of metallic metals. A non-metallic metal is referred to as "gangue."

In describing the formation of various ore bodies, he explained that ore in the form of a hot aqueous alkaline solution is found in various depths below the earth's surface in a magma chamber. With orogenic forces acting upon this chamber, many cracks are formed from it to the earth's surface, thus forming a magma chamber a cooling takes place which causes crystallization of the hot molten ore with the

How To Overcome Piles And Rectal Soreness

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.
For this purpose get from MacFarlane or MacFarlane Drug Co. a box of a package of Hemoroid and use as directed.
This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and sore-ness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemoroid is a physician's prescription and is highly recommended. It is easy to use and it seems the height of foolly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use, may be had at such a reasonable cost.

crystals going to the bottom of the mass leaving a volatile residuum. The channels formed by the forces are filled with this fluxing constituent and come in contact with cooler temperatures and in result, harden, to form veins throughout the ground. The mass left in the magma chamber is called igneous rock.

CLASSIFICATION OF ORES

Dr. Stevenson said that com-mercially ores are classified to their metallic content with iron taking the higher percentage of 50 to 60 per cent iron. Lead ores are from 5 to 6 per cent lead; zinc ores are from 5 to 6 per cent zinc; copper ores are around 5 per cent copper, and the grade of gold and silver ores is extremely variable.

Prior to the main lecture, Robert Peters spoke briefly on "Current Phenomena in the Sky."

Captain William Everall moved a hearty vote of thanks to Dr.
Stevenson for his address.

which was watched by Oak Bay

Steady Progress Marks Growth of Well-known Firm

Beginning With Staff of Only Three, Popular Electrical Firm Now Has 22

MacDonald Electric Limited is now observing its seventh anniversary. Starting in with three employees it now has a staff of 22.

The increase in personnel is an indication of the steadily increasing popularity of this firm in Victoria. Originally known as the Jameson Electrical Company, the business was acquired four years ago by George E. MacDonald and since has been known as the MacDonald Electric Limited.

The firm has just augmented its office space, equipment and staff in order to handle an increased business with the maximum of efficiency, under a new system of instalment purchases. Henceforth, in addition to the monthly payment plan, the firm will offer a system of weekly payments, which is expected to meet with popular approval from the buying public.

"We are the only 100 per cent General Electric dealers in Victoria," Mr. MacDonald said this morning. "We handle a complete range of General Electric products, including electric ranges, refrigerators, washers, radios, ironers, vacuum cleaners and all the smaller General Electric household appliances."

One of the most important departments of the business—the electrical contracting and wiring department—is under the direction of A. E. Clark. Prior to coming to Victoria, Mr. Clark supervised many large electrical installations in eastern Canada. His experience covers all branches of electrical installation and maintenance.

A new department of MacDonald Electric which has achieved popularity is the chinaware department. Here is offered high-grade china in moderately-priced sets, and the very latest accessories for range and refrigerators.

MODERN LIGHTING FIXTURES

Lighting fixtures of the most modern design are always available at MacDonald Electric Limited, the policy of the firm being to keep the stock up to date at all times.

The firm has lately added a department dealing with electrical therapeutic instruments, and now has specialists whose time is devoted solely to the sales and servicing of this medical equipment.

Optimism for the business year is to be seen in the fact that the firm now has on hand a carload of General Electric refrigerators, and expects a second carload to arrive on May 5. The business of the firm has expanded so rapidly that this large number of refrigerators will be disposed of in a short time, Mr. MacDonald said.

MacDonald Electric is equipped with the very latest and finest appliances to service any type of electrical difficulty, and this first-class equipment is used by experts of many years' experience in the electrical business.

Montreal Has Gamblers' Feud

One of Wings Sends Sandwich-board Pickets to Busy Corner

MONTREAL (CP)—Feuding between a couple of Montreal gambling elements was out in the open today, suddenly publicized by one of those sandwich-board pickets.

Last night the picket walked up and down at the city's busiest intersection, St. Catherine and Peel streets, his sign proclaiming: "Grand opening! Dice game. Roulette. Wide open and fully protected." It gave a nearby address.

Pedestrians gasped and wondered.

Some time ago, it seems, Montreal's gambling rooms were cleaned up by police and those automatically thrown out of work had to organize a "floating game" to keep going.

As the game moved from place to place some of the other operators who had managed to stay secretly in business began to harass the new organization.

So when the "big shots" opened up again, the proprietors of the floating games sought reprisal. They found it last night through the medium of the sandwich board.

FARM PURGES IN RUSSIA END

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet purge of collective farmers has been ordered stopped.

An order signed by Joseph Stalin, as secretary of the central committee of the Communist Party, and Vyacheslav Molotov, chairman of the Council of People's Commissars, Wednesday, declared much harm had been done by mass expulsions of peasants from farms for trivial reasons on the pretext of purging the farms of hostile elements.

The Communist leaders accused provincial officials of bureaucratic high-handedness, and warned them they would be tried as criminals unless unwarranted expulsions should cease.

Ousting of peasants from collective farms meant starvation, the order said, adding such action only created hostility to the Soviet regime.

The order is described as one of the sharpest ever issued from the Kremlin.

Two other orders, issued in what foreign circles regarded as a move to assure production of bumper grain crops this year, promise collective farmers better conditions.

One requires at least 60 per cent of the cash incomes of farms must be distributed among the farmers. The other orders tax evasions by individual peasants stopped.

The government found collective farm boards had been spending funds excessively on buildings and other capital investments, as well as for administrative purposes.

New Education Field Is Urged

B.C. Parent-Teacher Association Hears Suggestion On Sex Instruction

VANCOUVER (CP)—Sex education in the schools of British Columbia was urged in a resolution before the 16th annual British Columbia Parent-Teacher Convention here last night.

The resolution one of 16 to come before the convention, asks the provincial Minister of Education to have the subject taught in schools from the seventh grade up by competent authorities.

The meeting also will be asked to decide that any compulsory health examination before marriage should be confined to blood test for syphilis, the test to be made in a government controlled clinic.

The federation decided to ask the board of governors of the University of British Columbia to leave the annual tuition fees at the present rate. They also asked the board to set up a building program which would provide for natural increases in attendance.

In connection with free education, it was resolved to ask the Department of Education to take immediate steps to allow pupils 12 complete years of free education.

Another resolution urged that

CHINESE VIEW OF INVASION

Japanese Victims of Militarists, Says Dr. Heng Chih Tao

"While we are opposing Japanese war-makers, we hold no malice against the people of Japan, who have been the first victims of the militarists through suppression of news that has kept them in the dark as to what is occurring in our country," Dr. Heng Chih Tao, distinguished Chinese statesman, told a well-attended public meeting last night in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the Victoria branch of the Canadian League for Peace and Democracy. Prof. E. S. Farr was chairman.

Japan, had lots of reasons to justify her position in China, but all are without foundation, the speaker avowed. One of her main reasons for the China invasion was to establish a barrier to prevent the spread of Communism. Communism, he said, does not spread—it grows in any country where labor is unduly exploited. Other reasons were that Japan was overpopulated and that China was anti-Japanese.

China had been sending civilization to Japan for years. Now Japan says she is also sending civilization to China. The speaker considered it a destruction of civilization.

Dr. Tao figured that the war-mongers from the Land of the Rising Sun were biting off more than they could chew in their latest campaign. He said the Chinese nation was mobilizing into one mighty united front to resist Japan's aggression.

China, who had always wanted to be friendly, had shipped firecrackers to the Japanese that they might celebrate New Year's Eve. Now death-dealing bombs, charged with the same powder used for fireworks were being rained on helpless millions in a huge wave of destruction. He warned that Canada and other countries who shipped materials to Japan for the making of war implements might some day be bombarded with the same instruments they had helped to make.

Dr. Tao told of the gigantic efforts being made to educate the masses of China and said that although five persons were being killed or wounded every minute in his country, it would take the attention of public officials be called to the display and sale in Canada of certain "revolting" and "suggestive" magazines.

invaders 400 years to wipe out China's population at that rate. He said if all countries standing for peace and democracy were to stand united and fight together, the present-day menace to liberty would soon be abolished and democracy would again reign supreme.

Japan's policy, the speaker said, was "To divide and conquer." Ours is "To unite and resist."

A. F. Heathcote, secretary of the Victoria branch of the league, spoke briefly, following which pictures of the Sino-Japanese war were shown.

Commons Said To Be Weakening

Norman MacLeod Tells Toronto Club Private Members Losing Freedom

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian democracy faces no greater problem than the vanishing independence of the private members of Parliament and accompanying growth of party discipline within the Commons chamber, Norman MacLeod, past president of the Parliamentary Press Gallery in Ottawa, said in an address at the Empire Club here today.

He said if the trend continued "it means at the very best that Canada is to have but the empty form of democracy, with all the disadvantages that any system of popular government entails, and an actual dictatorship, without any of the advantages — inadequate though they be — that lie in totalitarian government."

"The democratic legislature of this Dominion, which is the House of Commons, is undergoing, and has been undergoing for some time a process of progressive weakening," Mr. MacLeod said. "It has largely lost touch with realities of the nation; it is floundering in a morass between new deal ideas, which it does not understand, and facts of industry and finance which it refuses to face."

"Pro Pelle Cuiem"

The Royal Charter of the Hudson's Bay Company was granted May 1, 1670. It is still preserved in London, England.

The document consists of five sheets of parchment, bearing twenty-seven feet of close scribbling. The heraldic Coat-of-arms or Armorial Bearings of the Company consists of a shield of white or silver, with the Red Cross of Saint George between four Black Beavers. The Crest—a Red Fox sits upon a red Cap of Maintenance with turned-up Ermine fur. Supporters are Elk in their natural color. The motto on the Scroll—Pro Pelle Cuiem. signifies in simple terms, "skin for skin." The trader risks his skin in procuring the animals hide—in modern parlance—a square deal.

The 268th Anniversary of the Granting of the Royal Charter to the Hudson's Bay Company Will Be Celebrated at an Early Date.

Baseball Has A Real Heyday

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

A FRACTURED breast bone may force Freddie Steele to quit the boxing ring. It is an old wound, Dr. William McNeerney of Tacoma located the trouble after taking 100 X-ray shots. Steele has been ordered to rest. There will be no work of any kind until May 1. Then, more X-rays, and the doctor's verdict.

Steele is matched with Young Corbett in San Francisco, but at the moment the world middle-weight champion can't tell you whether the fight will take place late in May or in July. He states he would be willing to fight Corbett free, gratis, and for nothing if he were sure his fractured breast bone was healed. The battle with Corbett, surprise conqueror of Freddie Apostoli, depends on the doctor's decision. Although that may be favorable, Steele right now is wondering how he will stand up in training.

"It is the most painful thing I ever knew," stated Steele. "It slows up my arms and legs. The same injury drove Happy Littleton and Lefty Cooper out of boxing. It caused Mike Gibbons months of agony, suspense and worry." Steele says that if the verdict is favorable he will tackle Al Hostak in Seattle following the Corbett engagement. Then he will be ready for Apostoli, who stopped him in New York, or any of them.

Speaking of boxing, I noticed a couple of lines in a recent column of Braven Dyer in the Los Angeles Times that are mighty interesting. Speaking about heavyweight fighters, Dyer said: "Al Ramo, manager of Gunnar Barlund is bringing another heavyweight to Los Angeles soon. Boy's name is Murray Patrick, and he's the son of Lester Patrick, ace ice hockey manager of New York Rangers. Patrick's son weighs 210 pounds and is lightning fast for a big fellow." This is all news to us, but maybe father Patrick can enlighten us on the subject. How about it, Lester?

Latest dope on the scheduled match race between those two greats, of the racetrack, Seabiscuit and War Admiral, is that it may develop into a three-horse affair with Stagehand completing the field. Since definite plans were made for the meeting between last year's handicap champion and three-year-old king the moguls of the American turf have been wondering what to do with Stagehand if Earle Sande's charge should come through and win the Kentucky Derby. So now they are talking about putting him in the $100,000 race with his senior rivals. Imagine what a race that would be and the amount of interest it would create. It would be the classic of the present century and would attract racing followers from all parts of the American continent.

And Stagehand is a mighty good thing to romp home with that Kentucky Derby pot on May 7. One cannot overlook his two smashing victories in the Santa Anita Derby and Handicap and not rate him a hot thing for the bluegrass affair at Churchill Downs. No one knows his horses better than Mr. Sande, and he says his entry stands a first-class chance of providing the early running.

Despite Seabiscuit's track record performance at Bay Meadows the other afternoon, eastern betting commissioners continue to make War Admiral favorite for the match race. Latest odds in the book of James P. Carroll, St. Louis commissioner, quote the Admiral at 11 to 20, approximately 1 and 2, and the Biscuit at 3 to 2.

However, Carroll states that should Stagehand cop the derby and be given a place in the match race, a complete new book would have to be issued. He further says that Stagehand might possibly be quoted as the favorite, with War Admiral second choice and Seabiscuit taking third position in the futures.

Given Release

JERSEY CITY, N.J.—Freddie Lindstrom, former major league outfielder, who sought to make a baseball comeback with the Jersey City club of the International League, was given his unconditional release yesterday.

Jack Cook, secretary of the Jersey City team, said Lindstrom was unable to get in form.

Highlights Yesterday Leaves Fans Gasping; Feller and Dean Come Through

The big league baseball races, only just begun, already have supplied more quick color and commotion than a four-ring circus during a thunderstorm. The customers today were slightly bewildered from trying to look in a dozen directions at once.

Joe DiMaggio, the last of the holdouts, was rolling eastward to join the beleaguered New York Yankees, watching the telephone poles tick of the dollars he had lost trying to buck the most powerful club in the business. Owner Phil Wrigley, the chewing gum king who owns the Chicago Cubs, was breathing a little easier and gaining confidence he hadn't been stuck in planking down $250,000 for pitcher Dizzy Dean.

Bob Feller, 19-year-old fireballer of the Cleveland Indians, had come within a single scratch hit of achieving that noblest of all diamond deeds, a no-hitter, as he shut out the St. Louis, 9 to 0. Also he struck out six and made two hits.

OTHER HIGHLIGHTS

Among the lesser incidents of a lusty day was the home run hit by little Gene Moore of the Boston Bees with three on base to beat the Giants, 6 to 4; a nine-run rally by the Cubs at Cincinnati's expense, and a four-run, last-inning comeback by the Philadelphia Phils to out-game Brooklyn, 6 to 5. It was a day.

It was not a complete test for Dean's arm, not after the Cubs gave him nine runs in the second inning. During the six innings Dizzy worked he allowed eight hits and two runs, but he looked tough enough when it came time to bear down.

He struck out three men, each time with men on the sacks, but didn't appear to be exerting himself otherwise. Manager Charlie Grimm relieved him after the sixth and let Jack Russell finish out the 10 to 4 victory. Jim Turner, last season's aged rookie sensation, held the Giants to six hits and Moore came through with a decisive homer for the Bees. Schumacher suddenly weakened in the eighth and big Walter Brown went in just in time to take the rap.

The St. Louis Cards looked like they were missing Dean as five of their remaining pitchers, whose names scarcely matter, took another 9 to 4 hiding from the Pittsburgh Pirates. Every Pirate joined in the 20-hit barrage.

Fat Freddie Fitzsimmons was the victim of the Phils' spectacular win over Brooklyn. Leading 5 to 2 going into the ninth after having hurled hitless ball for four innings, he suddenly was rapped for three singles before Max Butcher was rushed to the rescue. Pinky Whitney promptly drove in two runs with a single to tie the score, and then Butcher cut loose a wild pitch to let the winning run cross.

GAVE SIX WALKS

The only hit off Feller came in the sixth when Billy Sullivan, who was traded by Cleveland to the Browns during the winter, slapped a grounder to the pitcher's box, and the Indians' wonder boy was just a split second slow in fielding it. Six Browns got on base by walks, but none stole on Feller, which is news.

Washington won its third straight from the Athletics, 3 to 0, as Dutch Leonard, making his first start in the American League, kept seven Philadelphia hits scattered. Mickey Crochran must be dreading the prospect of taking his Detroit Tigers home for their opening tomorrow after dropping the second in a row to Chicago, 5 to 4. He started Vernon Kennedy, the pitcher obtained from the Sox in last winter's big deal with Jimmy Dykes, and Vernon had to be pulled in the seventh. Results follow:

NAVY-BAYS IN SOCCER FINAL

Former Stage Comeback to Whip Spencers 3 to 2 in Mid-week Play

Navy and Hudson's Bay won final berths in the Alderman James Adam Cup knockout competition in the Wednesday soccer circuit yesterday afternoon. The sailors reached the final by virtue of their 3 to 2 victory over Spencers at the Athletic Park. The Bays made the grade without even having to play—the Gorge Hotel defaulting owing to insufficient players. The final will be played next Wednesday.

The hotelmen picked up some players on the sidelines and an exhibition match was played in the place of the first cup match, the department store team winning, 5 to 0.

Things did not look at all promising for the Navy footballers at the close of the first half when they were trailing 2 to 0. But the appearance of Eddie DeCosta and Bill Hibbert in the front line seemed to give the naval brigade some new scoring power in the final 45-minute drive and they blasted in three goals to secure the odd one in five to eliminate the Spencers.

Spencers were at their best in the first-half exchanges and kept pressure on at the opposing end for the most of the session. Thirteen minutes after the start Art Chapman boosted the Diamond S club one up when he booted in Bobby Brown's blocked kick. Shortly after, Alec Ross, Navy's goal-getting inside left, was ordered off the field by Referee Dave McMillan for questioning his decision. His banishment left the sailors considerably weakened. They played ten men for the rest of the match. A minute later with Spencers back on the attack, Ted Waring sagged the hemp on Chapman's cross.

FINE COMEBACK

Eddie DeCosta and Hibbert gave the Navy forward line some new life when the second half got underway and the sailors soon had the store squad falling back to cover up their goal. Seven minutes from the kickoff Dave Marr scored on Peakman's corner kick for the Navy's first goal—the marker that started them away on a great comeback drive to victory.

The teams held their own for the next 25 minutes, but after 36 minutes the Navy tied the score at 2 to 2. Dan Munro, Spencer fullback, headed into his own goal in attempting to clear Bruce Robinson's long, powerful free kick from well outside the penalty area.

Soon after the sailors rang up the winning goal. Hibbert sent a beautiful cross to E. DeCosta from the right wing and he made no mistake with the shot. The whole of the Diamond S team came up to try and run in the tying goal in the closing minutes but they were unable to turn the trick.

Teams follow: Navy—L. DeCosta, McDonald, Kennedy, Sands, Robinson, Gagnon, Geddes, Marr, Cockrill, Ross, Murray, Peakman, E. DeCosta and Hibbert.

Spencers—McMillan, Munro, Cann, Moir, Bissell, Reside, Brown, Waring, Chapman, Collins and Byatt.

DiMaggio, despite two remarkable years in which he had hit .323, and .349 with a total of 75 home runs, was asking too much. DiMaggio Travels; Dean Gets Chesty

New York Yankees Outfield Star Will Don Uniform Saturday

NEW YORK — So Joe took the $25,000 and Messrs. Joe McCarthy, Jacob Ruppert and Ed Barrow breathed a collective sigh of relief the like of which hadn't been heard since the year of the big wind. The Yankees have Joe DiMaggio again.

Perhaps McCarthy was the most relieved yesterday afternoon when DiMaggio wired business manager Barrow he had accepted the club's sole offer of $25,000 after holding out for $40,000 since January 21. He said he would leave at once to join his teammates in New York.

It will be up to McCarthy to judge Joe's fitness to play. The outfielder, who was the league's most sensational player last season and who led both majors in home runs, arrives in New York Saturday morning and will be in uniform when Yankees meet Washington Senators that afternoon.

Both Joe would like to see number "3" go up on the scoreboard when the lineup are given to the umpires; DiMaggio because it is costing him about $162 a day to remain idle, McCarthy because his bombers have been futile at bat without the services of the cannoner from the coast.

"I'm certainly glad DiMaggio is coming in," said McCarthy last night. "But I'm particularly happy he has seen the light for his own good. He has just avoided making the biggest mistake of his life."

Ruppert is relieved and triumphant. Not only because the jovial colonel likes to see his Yankees win—154 victories a year wouldn't satisfy him—but because he has won, hands down, one of the toughest holdout battles in recent major league history.

When, on January 21, DiMaggio refused to sign the contract for $25,000, the colonel didn't like it. DiMaggio, despite two remarkable years in which he had hit .323, and .349 with a total of 75 home runs, was asking too much. HIGH SCHOOL MEET JUNE 3

New Boys' Senior Champion to Be Crowned at Annual Track Sports

A new senior boys' champion will be crowned at Victoria High School this year when the Fernwood institution holds its annual track and field meet on the campus, June 3.

George "Porky" Andrews, who swept the honors in seven events to capture the senior title for the third consecutive year in 1937, is not at the High School this season and the field will be open to several up-and-coming young tracksters who have entered the limelight recently.

Hank Rowe, member of the Victoria Dominions, and present holder of the senior high jump record and intermediate boys' 220 yds. record, will be in the foreground. Dan Alton, winner of the 1936 junior honors, will be running in senior company this year and may prove stiff competition. Bill Brown, John Stewart and Eric Holyoake are all to be watched.

NEW GIRL CHAMP

A new senior girls' champion will also be named this year. Miss Harriett E. A. Doull, girls' physical training instructor, has some good material in Darlene Woodburn, girls' intermediate champion of last year. She is favored to take senior honors this year.

The juvenile boys' class introduced in the last meet, should provide plenty of excitement, and the prelims and other youngsters who race for this company will have a set of new records to crack.

Under the direction of Coach Roper early training has begun. After the Victoria High School meet the cream of the athletes will participate in the inter-High School meet.

MANN WINNER BY KNOCKOUT

New Jersey Heavyweight Has Hans Haverlick Helpless in Third Round

NEW YORK — Natie Mann came back to New York last night for the first time since Joe Louis dynamited him, and stopped Hans Haverlick, the Austrian champion, in the third round of a 10-round bout at the Hippodrome. Mann weighed 193 to his rival's 184.

Referee Arthur Donovan halted the proceedings at 2 minutes, 54 seconds of the third round as Haverlick was on the floor for the eighth time in the fight.

Dean had several other pertinent remarks to get off his chest. Among them were: "I knew my arm was right when Garback (Chicago catcher) had to get a sponge for his glove while I was warming up. The arm feels better than it has felt since I started pitching. "The pennant is in the bag for the Cubs. "The Cubs pulled a couple of fielding plays behind me that the Cards couldn't have made in 100 years."

Scouts to Hold Swim Tomorrow

Victoria boy scouts and cubs will compete for honors in a swimming meet to be held at the Crystal Garden tomorrow evening, starting at 7.30. The large entry list for the program has been separated into three divisions: Cubs under 12, Scouts under 17 and Rovers. A water polo game and a high-diving contest has been included in the list of events. All contestants are asked to be present before 7.30.

Snowdon, Benoit and Cronie Score Goals to Defeat Cornwall Flyers

CALGARY (CP)—The Allan Cup was being carried to British Columbia's Rocky Mountains again today, captured by Trail after a 12-year battle for senior hockey supremacy in Canada.

Trail's 1938 edition of Smoke Eaters, a flock of speed merchants molded into a high-geared passing machine by Coach Elmer Piper, climaxed the long fight by defeating Cornwall Flyers 3 to 1 here last night.

Edged out 2 to 1 by the eastern Canada champions in the third game after winning the first 6 to 4 and the second 8 to 2, the smelter town speedsters left little doubt of their superiority in finishing off the best of five series.

One of the greatest displays of netminding ever seen in Calgary was the only reason Smoke Eaters did not gallop to a one-sided victory. Goaler Floyd Perras salvaged a little honor for the St. Lawrence River crew by holding off Trail sharpshooters almost singlehanded for two periods.

Described by returning National Hockey League managers and players as the speediest and best drilled amateur sextette they had ever seen, Smoke Eaters were never behind after Mel Snowdon scored late in the first period.

SCORELESS PERIOD

The second period was scoreless because of the fine work of Perras and eight and a half minutes of the third had elapsed before he was finally beaten again. He had no chance as Joe Benoit fired a wicked shot from 15 feet out after taking a long pass from Bunny Dame.

Ab Cronie was credited with scoring Trail's third tally three minutes later. He shot from a corner and the puck bounced off Farrand Gillie's skate and into the Cornwall goal.

The Cornwall counter was scored by Ab MacDonald with only 45 seconds to go while each team was short one man. Mike McMahon of Cornwall and Dame were in the penalty box for scuffling.

MacDonald, playing his best game of the series, grabbed a pass from Gillie, rounded the Trail defence and worked over toward the front of the goal before beating Duke Scodellaro from 10 feet out.

The McMahon-Dame encounter was the first of a series of hugging matches that prolonged the last period. The most serious fight was between Conny Brown of Flyers and Tom Johnston of Trail and it almost started a general melee. But all ill-feeling was forgotten after the final whistle.

After dominating senior hockey in British Columbia for years, Trail saw Kimberley Dynamiters take the Allan Cup to British Columbia in 1936, first time in history it traveled to the Pacific coast province.

Smoke Eaters made their first bid for the trophy in 1927, when they took the provincial title for the first time. They retained the championship for the next year, but the farthest they advanced was to the western Canada finals. Twice—in 1928 and 1929—they lost to the ultimate Allan Cup winners.

SUMMARY

First period—1, Trail, Snowdon (Benoit), 17.33. Penalty: Kowcinak.

Second period—No score. Penalties: McMahon, Snowdon.

Third period—2, Trail, Benoit (Dame), 8.38; 3, Trail, Cronie, 11.28; 4, Cornwall, MacDonald (Gillie), 19.15. Penalties—Gillie, Kowcinak, Landmore, McMahon (3); Johnston (2), Dame.

Their first match against Worcester-shire is scheduled for April 30. A large crowd watch Don Bradman, Australian captain, at the nets. He was bowled by J. Brooks, a youngster attached to the ground staff at the famous enclosure, and a little later A. G. Chipperfield, New South Wales all-rounder, trapped him a second time as he attempted a wild pull.

Teachers Are Told Pension Plan Fails

Announcement By Federation President Precipitates Long Debate

"I have been advised that the teachers' pension fund is actually unsound. . . . The fund cannot go on a great deal longer under the present set-up. Teachers' contributions are as yet untouched but the reserve fund will be depleted some time next month."

With these words J. N. Burnett, president of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation, yesterday afternoon gave the organization's members their first official confirmation of rumors which have been circulating for some time, and opened a debate which lasted two and a half hours.

It extended the opening session of the federation's 22nd annual general meeting from a scheduled closing time of 5 until well after 7 p. m. the evening.

The debate which followed Mr. Burnett's presentation of the teachers' pensions report at the meeting in the lower lounge of the Empress Hotel was bitter, and was highlighted by a speech by Hugh Creelman, principal of Lampson Street School, Esquimalt, which lasted an hour and a quarter.

Mr. Burnett briefly traced the history of the pensions fund through recent years. Two and a half years ago, he said, it had become evident that all was not well with the fund. In June of 1936 a delegation from the federation was called to Victoria by the government and shown the actuarial report on the fund. The report was then confidential, and had not even yet been released.

The visit was followed by a long series of consultations with the Minister of Education and the government, leading to a certain impatience on the part of the officers of the federation.

Up to the present time no definite decision had been received, said Mr. Burnett.

TO MEET MINISTERS

He added that Hon. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, had promised to have the whole matter clarified at the next session of the Legislature.

The officials of the pension fund were to meet Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, informally tomorrow, and were to confer with the whole cabinet as soon as Premier Pattullo returned from the east.

Stressing the urgency of some revision of the pension system, Mr. Burnett said: "We cannot throw the whole plan out of the window and get our money back. We have 261 pensions that have to be paid."

Pensions at present were paid from the reserve fund; created from teachers' entrance fees and from a grant from the provincial government of $25,000 a year for 10 years, due to expire next year.

A member interjected from the floor of the meeting that the reserve had fallen from $130,000 in 1932 to almost nothing at the present time.

SCHOOL BOARDS BLAMED

Mr. Burnett charged the school boards had more or less broken the spirit of the Teachers' Pensions Act by forcing teachers to retire at the age of 60 for men and 65 for women.

Harry Charlesworth, general secretary of the federation and a member of the three-man Teachers' Pension Board, enlarged considerably on the subject of the attitude of the school boards.

After reviewing the events leading up to the passing of the Teachers' Pensions Act—which, he said, was the only insurance plan for public servants in the province in which the employer did not contribute—Mr. Charlesworth stressed that the act's retirement provisions had been made voluntary at the request of the teachers themselves.

"It is still a voluntary retirement act, and it is financed on that basis," he said.

School boards, both to avoid the unpleasant duty of recommending the retirement of individual teachers to the pensions board and to save money by replacing teachers in the top salary brackets with those at the bottom of the scale, had forced teachers to retire at the minimum superannuation age.

"The absolute crux of the question is that the school boards have made a voluntary retiring act into a compulsory retiring act because it suits their purpose," he said.

BLUNT WARNING

Mr. Creelman told the meeting bluntly: "There has got to be a new scheme on an entirely new basis, and we teachers have got to realize that we are not going to get $120 a month out of it. . . . Any change should be O.K.'d by an actuary, or else the scheme should guarantee that our money will remain untouched."

As an alternative he suggested that the teachers should forego two years of their contributions to provide for pensions already being paid, withdraw the rest of their money and forget about the whole thing.

He examined at length pension schemes in use all over Canada and in various other parts of the world, and found that the only workable schemes were those in which the teacher paid money into an annuity and the government took care of the past service problem created by teachers who retired shortly after the scheme went into effect.

"Every teachers' pension scheme in Canada was shaky," he said, and British Columbia's was the only one in which the employer, or the government, did not contribute equally with the employee.

He charged teachers had been wrongly led to believe the provincial government was going to contribute as much as themselves.

He quoted the case of the New Brunswick teachers' pension scheme, which the Carnegie Foundation had found would not be actually sound until after 80 years of operation.

"We should learn by what has happened elsewhere. . . . I think our scheme was $2,000,000 in the hole before it started," he said.

Mr. Creelman claimed the argument the school boards were to blame for the situation was false because the longer a teacher worked the larger his pension became. He said a teacher working from the age of 18 to 65 for $1,200 a year had a right to a pension of $1,200 a year under the British Columbia scheme. The British Columbia scheme was the only one he had heard of where the pension was supposed to be larger than the original salary.

"I hope the teachers will not feel the situation is going to be clarified at the next session," he said. "I feel positive it will not be clarified at the next session or at any session unless it is proved actuarially sound."

The report of the pensions committee was adopted without further debate following Mr. Creelman's speech.

SALARY QUESTION
Salary matters held the chief place in Mr. Burnett's presidential address.

A provincial salary scale drawn up last year by the federation had been put before the Department of Education on several occasions, but had not been implemented, chiefly, he believed, because the government did not want to take any action towards reallocating municipal and other grants until the provincial case had been considered by the Rowell Commission.

However, the introduction of an arbitration clause during the year had clarified a great many pressing salary problems, and had made it impossible for school boards to shelve the issue any longer.

The clause was now being tested in four Fraser Valley cases which had been brought to compulsory arbitration. Salary questions had been settled in three other districts under the voluntary arbitration provisions of the clause.

Mr. Burnett also spoke at some length on the draft bill designed to put teaching on a professional basis, to be considered later in the general meeting. The bill, he said, had been stripped of all its incumbrances and both sides of the case had been thoroughly studied by teachers throughout the province.

SECRETARY'S WORK

He spoke briefly of the work of the general secretary during the year, which had involved an extension of his traveling through the province, and of membership, then revised changes made in the technical organization of the federation, including the provision for probationary service of one year by teachers on appointment to new positions.

Mr. Charlesworth, in his report as secretary, also spoke of salaries.

"We have done a great deal of work, but there are still problems to be settled. There must be a change in the taxation system for education and also in the system of grants," he said.

A membership of 2,900, 250 higher than at the same time last year, was reported by John Sutherland, Vancouver, chairman of the membership committee. Indications were that the membership would reach an all-time record of 3,200 some time during the year.

G. S. Ford, New Westminster, was unanimously elected as a trustee of the G. A. Ferguson Memorial Award for a three-year term.

EDUCATION WEEK

With six contrary votes, the meeting decided Education Week would be held in British Columbia in the second week in November instead of February, as in the past. The motion to this effect, put by William Morgan, Vancouver, chairman of the Education Week committee, added that the action was to be suggested to the Canadian Teachers' Federation but was to be taken in any event.

It was also stressed during debate on the motion that the best results were obtained during the week when visitors saw the classes doing their regular work, and not a special exhibition.

Mr. Morgan said many schools had been unable to share in the observance of the week this year because of roads blocked by snow and zero weather.

It was pointed out that Education Week was held in November in the United States, and that British Columbia would be in line with a movement for a uniform observance of the week throughout North America from Alaska to Mexico.

Europe Trend Change Traced

Principal of Upper Canada College Sees New Shift Developing

Like a kaleidoscope the post-war pattern of Europe has made a very definite shift in the last eight years, and now appears on the verge of a further change which may or may not bring peace and security, T. W. L. MacDermot principal of Upper Canada College, Toronto, and former national secretary of the League of Nations Society in Canada, told the Men's Canadian Club at luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

The most recent events in Europe, he said, indicated that Britain, with France, intended to embark on a more positive policy of pacification. But no one, at this stage, could predict whether Chamberlain's new line would "pluck the flower of law and order" out of the present danger. Whatever criticisms were made, he pointed out, none could question the sincerity of the British government in its objectives along this line, despite assertions of friendliness to the Fascist powers, unfriendliness to Russia, isolation of the Spanish conflict and non-isolation of Czechoslovakia.

"NEW EUROPE"

Since the early 1930's, said Mr. MacDermot, a "new Europe" had developed that seemed to go back to the dark ages, dominated by the principles against which the last war was fought.

It was a Europe no longer dominated by Britain, but by Germany, because no one knew what Hitler would do next.

The reckless and unpredictable use of violence had taken the place of arbitration for disputes. Non-interference of one country with the internal affairs of others had given place to deliberate interference by both Russia and the Fascist powers. The maintenance of contracts was a thing of the past, as illustrated by Hitler's march into Austria, which violated 15 treaties and set up a new constitution. Economic interchange between nations and stability of trade had been replaced by policies of self-sufficiency. And, most painful of all, he said, was the loss of individual rights and the growth of a brutality which descended to unspeakable depths of depravity.

Mr. MacDermot sketched in brief outline the world as it was reformed by the Treaty of Versailles, a theoretical pattern which was to give peace through law and order, arbitration of disputes, maintenance of democratic principles, unity of nations in trade and political dealings, and preservation of individual rights. Versailles, he said, put the status quo in a straight jacket, so to speak, though it was not accepted by many forces.

FOUND WANTING

Since 1930 the doctrine of status quo had been tested and found wanting. First came the Japanese invasion of Manchuria with violence, producing only moral protests. Next came the Italian march into Abyssinia, answered more strongly by League sanctions and the moving of the British fleet to the Mediterranean, which served only to delay the victory. The third and greatest test came with Hitler's occupation of the Rhineland. Spain's revolution, involving the other countries, completed the shattering of the post-war peace pattern. The kaleidoscope had been violently shaken and the new pattern formed.

Mr. MacDermot said Chamberlain's new appeasement policy

Inconsistency In Teaching

Warned Against By Washington Professor in Talk at Teachers' Federation

Dr. Curtis T. Williams, professor of education at the University of Washington, principal speaker at the luncheon meeting of the B.C. Teachers' Federation yesterday, said that the teacher's role at the present day should be to enlist the understanding of his pupils for the purpose of their studies, rather than to retail to them packaged knowledge which they did not want.

Dr. Williams entitled his address: "The New Teacher in a New World."

The greatest disability in the process of education, he said, was that nine-tenths of all that the teachers sought to teach their children was of no interest to the children. Children generally were not hungry for knowledge and avid for teaching.

As yet they did not see the reason for doing what they were required to do.

The attitude of the children was in part the result of teachers' past inconsistency in avowing democracy but practising authoritarianism in their schools.

Through this inconsistency, authority over children had now been lost in the United States by teachers as by parents and the church.

In the state of Washington, no teacher could fail 25 per cent of his class and still retain his job, he said. In King County, Washington, three school officials who had handed out needed corporal punishment had been taken into court and ordered to pay damages.

"You're so close to us that that will get to you sooner or later," he said.

The only way to secure democracy was to train the adults of tomorrow in its essentials. What they were exercising now was not democracy but license.

He suggested the teacher lay the purposes of his course before his pupils and show them the benefits it could give.

In this way the teacher could build the pattern of democracy inside his school.

The children should be cultivated, not shot full of something they could not absorb, leaving them a prey to any "ism" that might come along.

A record convention registration of 1,208 was reported by J. N. Burnett, president of the federation, who was in the chair at the luncheon.

A good deal of local interest attaches to the production of the festival play. This is the first time that Victoria has been chosen to represent the province in the Dominion finals. Much credit for the success of the Beaux-Arts this year has been due to the excellence of the direction of Wilbur Sparrow of the University of Washington, who has gained outstanding prominence for his work with the

B.C. Forest Wealth Soars to $80,000,000

Output For 1937 Surpassed Only By 1928 and 1929

The forest industries of British Columbia in 1937 produced $80,000,000 in new wealth, an increase of 12 per cent over 1936, boosting production to the highest point since the banner years of 1928 and 1929, when the output went up to $94,000,000.

The figures were announced today by Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, on calculations made by the B.C. forest branch.

Overall production represented a recovery of 160 per cent from the depression low of $35,157,000 in 1932.

Leading the way was the straight lumbering itself, which was worth $40,638,000, an increase of $4,500,000 from 1936. Pulp and paper was the next biggest item, worth $17,214,000 for an increase of $2,250,000, and just under the peak all-time production of 1927.

Shingle production was worth $6,875,000. This was a drop of nearly $1,000,000 from 1936, largely due to the effect of the quota on shipments to the United States.

The rapidly-growing door industry, developed in the last three years to supply the British market, was worth $2,971,000, an increase of $250,000. Manufacture of boxes was worth $2,122,000, up $500,000.

The value of logs exported increased by $1,000,000 to $3,782,000. This increase, it was explained, was entirely due to a large jump in the export of logs cut on old crown grants over which the provincial government has no control.

Value of other production items follows: Piles, poles and rail props, $2,346,000; cordwood, fence posts and lagging, $1,459,000; railway ties, $560,000; laths and other miscellaneous products, $1,400,000.

The appeal of the Attorney-General of British Columbia against the ruling of Mr. Justice Murphy in Vancouver which upheld the trustee in bankruptcy in disallowing a claim by the Department of Lands, forest branch, against the estate of the bankrupt Abernathy-Lougheed Logging Co. Ltd., opened before the Court of Appeal this morning. The department had claimed $52,689.50 from the company and had sought payment of the claim prior to other creditors. G. L. Salter is named as respondent.

In the interests of the bondholders and the city it had been incumbent upon the provincial government to assist in relieving the situation. The government, he claimed, had been within its rights in enacting the legislation.

"We are not starting out to circumvent the Interest Act like Albertha of Alberta," Mr. Maclean said.

Continuing, he stated there was no intention to prejudice the bondholders' rights. The city, he said, was merely seeking time through the refunding to meet its indebtedness and the onus of convincing the court the provincial government had acted beyond its power in passing the legislation lay on the plaintiff.

Mr. Higgins represented the debt trustees and Walter B. Colvin held a watching brief for the Attorney-General.

Coal Output Down in March

The output of coal from Vancouver Island collieries showed a drop in March as compared with the same month of last year, according to the monthly return of the Chief Inspector of Mines.

Island output was 64,389 tons, compared with 76,208 tons in March, 1937.

For the province as a whole the output was 105,606 tons, down 20 per cent from March, 1937, which had an output of 132,704 tons.

The only district showing an increase for the month was the Nicola-Princeton section, which was up from 12,080 to 13,882 tons. East Kootenay output dropped from 44,050 to 36,240 tons.

Compulsory Wage Increases Sought

B.C. Teachers Seek to Establish Definite Scale of Increments

British Columbia teachers will press for a basic and compulsory system of increments in teachers' salaries, based on experience.

At this morning's session of its annual meeting the B.C. Teachers' Federation passed two resolutions to that effect, one presented as a substitute for an original motion by the federation's salary committee, the other submitted by the executive.

The former called for the federation to petition the Department of Education to take immediate steps to seek that, by means of annual increments, recognition be given to length of service.

The latter asked the department to implement recent legislation by adopting a revised schedule of school grants to municipalities in order to guarantee a definite scale of increments.

The passing of the two resolutions climaxed an hour and a half of debate which at times verged on bitterness.

The original resolution, introduced by J. M. Thomas, Cobble Hill, vice-president of the federation and chairman of the provincial salary committee, called for endorsement of the principle of a provincial salary schedule with stated minimums, annual increments and maximum salaries determined by experience and position.

It was withdrawn after meeting considerable opposition. Other members of the committee were Gordon Hunter, Vancouver, representing the elementary teachers, and Robert Jenks, Cloverdale, for the secondary teachers.

"The federation should endorse as an objective the establishment of a provincial salary schedule that all engaging authorities should observe. . . . It is realized that such a schedule cannot set a level equal to that of schedules now in effect at a few points in the province, but it should make provision for upward revision in some areas," said Mr. Thomas.

The salary question, he said, must be dealt with on a provincial basis, not by localized negotiation.

Mr. Thomas added: "The full burden of increments should be borne by the province, and teachers should not lose their place in the schedule of increments when they moved from one place to another."

J. N. Burnett, president of the federation, warned: "This is a question that will make or break your federation." A provincial schedule might mean control of salaries, in so far as teachers were concerned, by the provincial government.

Mr. Thomas, reviewing progress made by the committee during the year, said work to establish a salary scale had been confined to rural teachers' salaries.

The Minister of Education had intimated that there was a possibility of the elementary teachers' minimum salary being raised to $900.

Mr. Burnett interjected that no promise of that sort had been given.

DANGER SEEN
 Later he commented that a schedule of the sort proposed would mean that school boards everywhere would adopt the minimums set by the government, and that teachers in areas where salaries were now higher than the average would have a hard fight to retain them.

Harry Charlesworth, general secretary of the federation, said the question was as old as the federation itself. The question, he said, was whether to establish an ideal which would not be achieved for many years, or whether to work towards such an ideal by practical steps.

In spite of a denial by Mr. Thomas, Mr. Charlesworth insisted the resolution meant a single basic scale for all teachers everywhere.

Experience with the basic minimum salaries already set by the province at $780 for elementary, $1,100 for junior high school and $1,200 for high school teachers had shown that beginning teachers benefited, but that school boards tended to lower the salaries of experienced teachers to make up the difference.

MORE PRACTICAL STEP
 The first practical step, he said, should be to press for legislation for definite increments, in accordance with experience, above the already set minimums.

"The whole status of the profession financially has dropped," said one teacher from the floor of the meeting, with reference to the effects of the basic minimum.

The original resolution, said John Sutherland, Vancouver, was a little vague. Teachers would

Proposal For Vice-presidents From Island and Interior Voted Down

A proposal that the British Columbia Teachers' Federation change its constitution to allow for three vice-presidents, with one from Vancouver Island and one from the interior, was defeated on a standing vote at this morning's session of the annual meeting.

The proposal was contained in the report of the constitution and by-laws committee, presented by Hugh Creelman, Esquimalt.

Proponents of the increase from one to three vice-presidents argued it would give better representation to other areas than the lower mainland, and would make a wider training field for the presidency.

One speaker saw it as impractical but a gesture which would please the island and the interior.

Opponents based their arguments on the cost of the new offices, and on the fact that the new vice-presidents would rarely have time to attend meetings in Vancouver.

MAGAZINE REPORT

The report of the magazine committee stressed the value of the federation's publication, the B.C. Teacher, in selling the organization to its members in line with a program to be undertaken for publicity, both internal and external on the federation's activities.

ARBITRATION TO PROCEED

Board of Three Selected For Blubber Bay Dispute

First labor arbitration board under the new British Columbia industrial disputes law will be set up shortly by the provincial government to deal with the dispute between the Pacific Lime Company and its employees at Blubber Bay.

Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, was advised today that both sides have agreed to Judge J. C. McIntosh as chairman. Frank Leigh, past secretary of the men's union, will represent them, and Col. R. D. Williams will represent the company.

Conciliation, which is the initial step in dealing with industrial disputes under the Labor Act, failed in the Blubber Bay affair. Arbitration is the next step. If this fails the men retain the right to strike or the company to order a lockout.

An important principle in connection with the new law was also ruled on today when the company agreed, at Mr. Pearson's suggestion, to reinstate nine men dismissed last week.

Mr. Pearson pointed out that while the company always had the right to dismiss a man for cause, its case might be prejudiced if it were suggested the men, who were members of the union, had been dismissed for union activities.

Harold Winch, M.P.P., appointed by the men as one of their representatives before arbitration board, pleaded the case of the dismissed men with the minister this morning and said he thought it highly important that no men should be dismissed while arbitration of a case was pending.

Vancouver Man Killed in Spain

be more willing to support a more concrete proposal.

"The federation is too inclined to trot over to Victoria and lay its troubles before the government. . . . It is time we did something on our own account," said another teacher.

That meant the federation must be strengthened. He considered indirect work by arbitration more hopeful than the frontal attack proposed in the original resolution.

TRAVEL TRADE IS PROMISING

Conventions Will Draw Tourists to Pacific Coast, Says George I. Warren

Optimism on the tourist travel to Victoria this year was voiced by George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, this morning on his return from a two-week motor trip to San Francisco and return.

Mr. Warren based his belief on the aggressive newspaper and magazine advertising campaigns of British Columbia and Washington now underway, coupled with the fact that the largest conventions on the North American continent will be held on the Pacific Coast this year.

The Shriners and American Legion conventions are billed in Los Angeles, International Rotary, International Kiwanis and American Medical Association conventions at San Francisco.

BIG CONVENTIONS

The Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau is bending every effort to secure a share of this business for Victoria and the island, Mr. Warren said. A field representative of the bureau for the last 12 weeks has been working in southern California distributing literature and making contacts that are expected to increase business in the north, Mr. Warren said.

Mr. Warren was accompanied to San Francisco by Major J. Gordon Smith of the provincial Bureau of Information.

On the way south the two commissioners conferred with officials of the Evergreen Play-ground Association at Seattle, C. E. Johns, secretary of the Washington Progress Commission, which is conducting the $100,000 tourist publicity campaign for the State of Washington, and Governor Clarence D. Martin of Washington, at Olympia, on this year's tourist travel.

IN OREGON

At Portland they met officials of the Oregon State Motor Association and Harold Say, director of publicity for the Oregon Highway Commission, which is handling a $100,000 advertising campaign this year, featuring the recreational facilities of the State of Oregon. They attended a meeting of the directors of the Oregon Coast Highway Association at Marshfield, Oregon.

At Eureka, California, a conference was held with officials of

In San Francisco Harold Hubbard, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and director of the Publicity Bureau; Miss Margaret De Guissem, manager of Harrison Hot Springs Hotel, and Ivan Becroft, contact man for the Victoria and Island publicity bureau, attended conferences with travel officials.

Mr. Warren spoke over the air at Redding, California, on Vancouver Island attractions.

At Portland, Oregon, meetings were held with the Automobile Association and Hotelmen's Association. Mr. Warren selected sites for 12 more billboards, which will be erected to attract travel to this city this year.

Following his election Mr. Thomas told the meeting it was the men and women in the association in all parts of the province who were its real strength.

ROTARY VITAL WORLD ORGAN

Has Strong Influence Internationally, P. B. Scurrah Tells Club

An insight into the problems which confront Rotary International was given to members of the local Rotary Club by P. B. Scurrah at a luncheon today.

The speaker traced the growth of Rotary from a four-men roster 33 years ago to an organization with a membership of 195,000 today.

Since its inception, Rotary had had a vital influence on business and community life all over the world. It had taken a definite material responsibility in regard to the less fortunate in every country in which it had operated. Rotary had led throughout the world in the improvement of social conditions.

As most wars were the direct or indirect result of economic and commercial differences, it was the object of Rotary to influence these factors in such a way that critical international situations could be avoided. The speaker said business was the cornerstone of progress, and accordingly must be laid on an ethical foundation which Rotary could strongly influence.

Mr. Scurrah remarked on the loss of clubs in Germany and Austria, but felt the impressions made by Rotary in these countries would not be influenced by any adverse propaganda.

Mr. Thomas is the second Vancouver Island man to hold the presidency of the association in its 22 years of existence.

Ford Is to Talk With Roosevelt

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House announced today President Roosevelt had invited Henry Ford to an informal luncheon conference with him next Wednesday.

Stephen Early, a presidential secretary, said the invitation had been sent to the automobile manufacturer by telegraph last night to Boston, where Mr. Ford is visiting.

The telegram also said that if the elder Ford desired he might bring along his son, Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, and W. J. Cameron, public relations advisor of the company.

It will be Henry Ford's first visit to the White House since President Roosevelt took office. He has differed with many New Deal measures and principles, especially the Industrial Recovery Act and the Wagner Labor Relations Law. He refused to sign the N.R.A.'s Blue Eagle declaration of compliance.

Edsel Ford was a recent participant in a White House conference designed to discourage high pressure salesmanship of automobiles.

NEW CONSTRUCTION

A high administration official said earlier today that President Roosevelt's efforts to promote federal-financed expansion in the utilities industry as part of his big recovery plan were aimed at eventual stimulation of a huge utilities building program.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation announced yesterday it was ready to meet the financial needs of all comers in an attempt to end the utilities industry's construction slump. White House advisers have estimated possibly a $1,000,000,000 utilities building program could be undertaken immediately with quick and far-reaching effects in other industries such as steel, cement, brick and lumber.

Utilities executive told the President several months ago they were about $3,600,000,000 behind normal building schedules.

NO FAVORS ASKED

SUDBURY, Mass. (AP)—Henry Ford, Detroit automobile multi-millionaire, said today he would confer with President Roosevelt during his visit to Washington next week, adding he would go to the White House as a man who had no favors to ask.

Mr. Ford said, smiling, he wanted to shake hands with the President "as an old friend" and have a chat with him.

He said: "I want to give the President a chance to look at somebody who doesn't want anything."

Asked whether he would express any views about the New Deal during his "chat" with Mr. Roosevelt, he replied: "I shall not give him any advice."

FINE PROGRAM FOR DANCERS

Visiting Concert Group Will Dance to Music of Famous Composers

The program to be presented at the Empire Theatre next Monday evening by Lee Foley and his concert group is a most interesting and diversified one. It should appeal not only to those who love the art of the dance, but to everyone interested in the theatre and the beauty of the stage.

"Reverie," a romantic one-act ballet, with music by Chopin and choreography by Lee Foley, is the highlight of the program, and has been widely praised by dance critics in San Francisco and Seattle.

Numbers to be done by Mr. Foley include "Tall Grey Figure," "Tango," "Americana," "Sarcasm," "Goliwog's Cakewalk" and a polka, in which he will appear with two of his dancers.

Constance Hart is one of Seattle's most accomplished and capable young pianists, and she will come to Victoria to appear with the Foley group. Music on the program is by such favorite composers as Strauss, Scriabine, Guion, Weiss, Debussy and Smetana.

While dressing, a man staying in a hotel wished to summon the chambermaid. The only bell he could discover was in the bathroom attached to his bedroom. He rang several times without result. Later, having dressed, he encountered the chambermaid in the corridor, and reproached her with having failed to answer.

"Which bell did you ring, sir?" she asked.

"The bathroom bell."

"Ah, but you shouldn't have used it. That's only to be used in case you feel faint or drown in the bath."

CAPITOL SHOWS "OLD CHICAGO"

Spectacular Picture Portrays Dramatic Chapter in Great City's Life

Superb screen spectacle, with all the elements that go into the making of great entertainment, was hailed today at the Capitol Theatre, as Darryl F. Zanuck's awesome "In Old Chicago" opened its local engagement.

Up to now, Hollywood seemed to have made the most of all of the classic struggles between man and the elements, but not since the "Birth of a Nation" has such completely overwhelming grandeur graced a motion picture screen.

That the grandeur in this 20th Century-Fox production is derived from the relentless fury of an unrestrained holocaust which wiped out a middle-western metropolis of a rougher and tougher era is only part of the film.

FINE CAST AT OAK BAY NOW

Boris Karloff and Beverly Roberts Starred in "West of Shanghai"

"West of Shanghai," co-starring Boris Karloff and Beverly Roberts, is now playing at the Oak Bay Theatre. Besides the stars the cast includes such prominent players as Ricardo Cortez, Gordon Oliver, Vladimir Sokoloff, and a number of well-known Chinese players. John Farrow directed from a screen play by Crane Wilbur, based on a stage play by Porter Emerson Browne.

Lyle Talbot and Wendy Barrie are seen in "What Price Vengeance," which is also on this excellent program.

Sabatini Story Booked By Plaza

All the thrilling romance of a Rafael Sabatini novel has been brought to the screen in "The Marriage of Corbal," which will be showing at the Plaza Theatre on Monday.

In addition to its dramatic story and magnificent backgrounds, this film boasts an interesting cast headed by Nils Asther, Hugh Sinclair and Noah Beery. This picture provides filmgoers with an opportunity of seeing the debut of the youngest member of the famous theatrical family—the Terrys.

Snow White heroine of Walt Disney's feature-length production, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," now at the Atlas Theatre, is a young woman of many accomplishments, and among them cooking. When she becomes lost and finds shelter in the cottage of the dwarfs, the thing which swings Grumpy into letting her keep house for them is Snow White's promise to make them gooseberry pie.

used it. That's only to be used in case you feel faint or drown in the bath."

HEDDA HOPPER AT THE PLAZA

Other Well-known Stars Carrying Roles in "Dangerous Holiday"

Ra Hould, New Zealand's own contribution to the ranks of juvenile film players, made his starring debut at the Plaza Theatre today in Republic's "Dangerous Holiday," a film which should establish him as a star of the first magnitude.

According to advance publicity releases, his name, "Ra" is an abbreviation for "Richard Arthur," and it is particularly appropriate because it is also the name of the Egyptian Sun God who stands for warmth and brilliance.

Hedda Hopper contributes an outstanding performance as the boy's selfish stepmother, and Quinn Williams, Jack LaRue, Lynn Roberts, William Bakewell, Fern Emmett, Virginia Sale and Franklin Pangborn score in supporting roles.

WESTERN FILM AT COLUMBIA

Gene Autry Carries Leading Role in "Springtime in the Rockies"

Latest truce between cowboys and Indians has been made by Gene Autry, who is widely acclaimed as "Public Cowboy Number One." Autry's personal press agent is an Indian!

"Springtime in the Rockies," Autry's latest musical western for Republic, comes today to the Columbia Theatre. It deals with the adventures of a rough-and-ready cowboy who suddenly and unexpectedly has four lovely maidens fresh from an agricultural college descend upon him to teach him how to run a ranch. Naturally, this procedure doesn't set very well with the cowboys.

Shirley Temple Here Tomorrow

Shirley Temple will come to the Dominion Theatre tomorrow in "Rebecca," which is said to be one of the petite star's finest starring vehicles.

To the roster of romancing stars, dancing stars, comedy stars and singing stars are added six sunny new song hits, in addition to a medley of Shirley's famous hits of the past which she sings again. The new songs are "An Old Straw Hat," by Gordon and Revel; "Alone With You," "Happy Ending," and "Crackly Grain Flakes," by Pollack and Mitchell; "Come and Get Your Happiness," by Pokrass and Yellen; and "Toy Trumpet," with music by Raymond Scott and lyrics by Pollack and Mitchell.

Carion-eating Birds

The work of vultures may seem rather ugly, but it is important. These birds are carion-eaters—that is, they eat the bodies of dead animals.

A condor about to land on Andes mountain slope.

In the world of nature, great numbers of animals are killed and eaten by others, but some die by accident, disease or old age. If their bodies were not eaten, the wild parts of the earth would be littered up with decaying flesh.

As it is, the bodies usually do not stay long on the ground. They are attacked by hyenas, vultures and other animals. In India, adjutant and marabout storks are noted for what they do in this field. In Africa, the driver ants eat the bodies of mice, rats and other animals.

Of vultures, there are many kinds and sizes. Some small ones in Egypt are known as "Pharaoh's chickens." Turkey buzzards and condors are among the other kinds.

Turkey buzzards are found in parts of western Canada, and through the United States down to Mexico. They also are common in many sections of South America.

Turkey buzzards are fairly large birds. Their outspread wings sometimes measure five feet from tip to tip. They make their nests on the ground, or near it, usually in openings between rocks, or inside caves.

The largest of all vultures is the condor. This gigantic bird is common along slopes of the Andes mountains in Peru and Chile. What size the condor has! Often its wings spread out from nine to 11 feet. The only living bird with a greater wing spread is the albatross.

As we might expect, in view of its great wings, the condor is a powerful flier. It circles about the tall peaks of the Andes, looking for food. From time to time, it sees something below, and down it speeds. Probably no other birds are more sharp-eyed than condors and other vultures. They can see small objects at a great distance.

The nests of condors are made along the sides of cliffs. The nests do not amount to much, being only a few sticks put together. Not more than two eggs are to be found in a nest. The young are slow in learning how to fly, and do not win full power in the art for almost a year after hatching.

The California condor is a bird very much like the condors of Peru and Chile. It grows to just as great size, but it is not common nowadays except in a section of southern California.

UNCLE RAY. HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, APRIL 22, 1938

Adverse planetary aspects appear to dominate today, according to astrology. The morning is under a fairly promising rule, however, and should be employed in intensive work.

Contractors and builders are under benefic aspects. Engineers and men of mechanical bent should profit in coming weeks, when there will be need of expert service.

There is a sign read as encouraging to sinister plans and unfair judgment of those who enjoy success. The passing of a distinguished jurist is foretold for this month. Again the seers remind of the month that the old order is rapidly closing in a strange climax of amazing events and unusual precedents.

Human life, long held cheap because of modern inventions and daily accidents, now will become even less precious as bloodshed continues among many peoples of the world.

Mars entering the ruling degrees of London appears to be of evil portent to the British government, which may have grave internal disorders.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of business and social activity, but there may be many vexations. Money should be fairly plentiful for men and women.

Children born on this day probably will be vigorous in body and many may be brilliant in mind. Subjects of this sign are logical and able to succeed in intellectual vocations.

WHAT MAKES THE PHILANDERER philander, nobody knows. Perhaps it is the same instinct that makes the butterfly flit from flower to flower. Perhaps it is vanity that requires to be constantly fed on new conquests. Perhaps it is just the love of adventure, the thrill and excitement of playing the love game. But, whatever it is, it is there in his breast, stronger than any sense of duty, stronger than any pity for the woman whose life he took into his hands and that he is wrecking with his unfaithfulness.

So what is the poor wife to do whose soul is torn with jealousy and whose pride is dragged in the dust by her philandering husband? Shall she forgive him over and over again when he gets fed up with his last charmer and comes back repentant to home and mother? Or shall she buy a ticket to Reno? Shall she pretend to be not only blind but also dumb, and that she doesn't suspect what all of her friends and neighbors are gossiping about, and thus save her face? Or shall she wage a perpetual fight with him over every new affair?

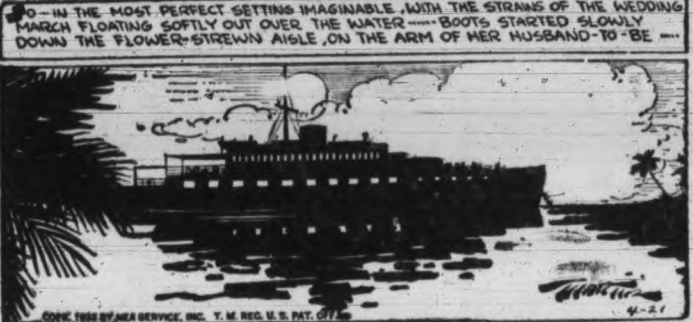

Different women answer the question in different ways. Most of them rush to the divorce court, which is generally jumping out of the frying pan into the fire, for many a flirtatious husband is a good provider, and when a woman finds herself with a decree absolute in one hand and a little grudgingly-given alimony in the other, she wonders why she ever bothered about her husband casting a roving eye on every pretty girl he met.

A philosophical woman I know once told me that she knew about her husband's philanderings and that she hated them, of course, but, she added, "Every husband has something a wife has to put up with. I'd rather be married to a man who makes romantic love to me, even if he does probably say the same things to other women, than one of these dry-as-dust husbands who never mentions the state of his affections from the altar to the grave."

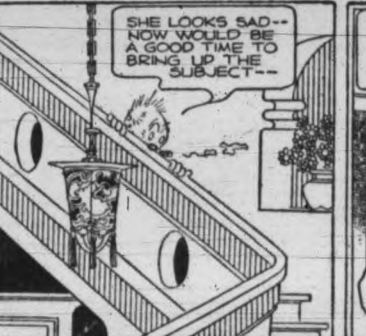

And still another woman whose husband was an incorrigible philanderer said to him: "We are friends. We have many things in common, including our children and our home. I have spent years helping you build your fortune, and I'm staying. We won't quarrel over your affairs. All I ask is that you keep them away from me. I have cultivated stupidity and blindness until I like it."

NO BONUSES FOR CREW

PORTLAND (AP)—The British freighter Ridley, held here when its youthful crew demanded war bonuses of $150 each for sailing into the Shanghai, China, war zone, sailed last night.

Terms of the settlement were not announced. Ship representatives who said they believed it was the first time a British vessel had been held in American waters by such demands, declared the crew had been influenced by American seamen.

U.S. WILL GET OLD QUADRANT

Roosevelt to Receive Historic Instrument From Canadian Mayor

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—The quadrant of Admiral John Paul Jones, first sea-fighter to fly the Stars and Stripes at the masthead of his ship, will be presented to the United States in the next few weeks by Mayor D. L. MacLaren of Saint John, it was announced today.

President Roosevelt will receive the gift at Washington on behalf of his nation, and the quadrant, priceless relic of one of the United States' greatest heroes, will be deposited permanently in the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Sir Herbert Marler, Canadian Minister to Washington, will accompany the mayor to the White House.

It all started with a published article telling how the quadrant lay in a wall safe at the home of Mayor MacLaren.

The article said, in 1905, when John Paul Jones's body was brought back to the United States from Paris, and the Smithsonian Institute sent out a call for relics of the great admiral, the mayor's father, J. S. M. MacLaren, had written President Theodore Roosevelt offering the quadrant.

All Mr. MacLaren had wanted in return was Theodore Roosevelt's signature, but his letter reached an understrapper, who, the article said, wrote a curt and discourteous reply—so the quadrant remained in Saint John.

The reporter who wrote the article later met Marvin McIntyre, the President's secretary, and gave a copy to Mr. McIntyre, thinking Mr. Roosevelt, often called the "Sailor President," might be interested. Soon afterwards Mayor MacLaren received a letter from President Roosevelt.

After Jones's death, his quadrant was given to his grand nephew, Simon Graham, who came to Canada from Scotland and settled at Rexton, N.B. Graham's son presented the quadrant to Mayor MacLaren's father.

Empress Of Japan Made New Record

Flagship Voyaged From Yokohama to Honolulu in Six Days, Eight Hours

The Canadian Pacific flagship Empress of Japan set a new speed record on her latest crossing between Yokohama and Honolulu.

The 26,000-ton liner, which arrived here yesterday, covered the distance in six days, eight hours and 33 minutes, an average speed of 22.175 knots.

This is the fastest time recorded by the ship on any leg of the southern crossing.

When the Japan used the North Circle Route between Yokohama and Victoria in 1931 she hung up a record of seven days, 20 hours and 16 minutes for an average speed of 22.27 knots.

According to her master, Captain L. R. Douglas, R.N.R., "speeds on the southern route are fractionally slower than on the northern route because of wind and tide conditions."

Captain Douglas showed an interesting keepsake in his cabin. The gift of members of the crew who made it completely in spare time hours. It was a four-foot scale model of a Chinese fishing junk, beautifully fashioned from teak and faithful in all details, even to the luck charms at mastheads, and a huge rudder bar operated by man-power. The model was presented to the commander during the last trip as a mark of esteem from the crew.

A model of another sort was fashioned during the voyage by Chief Tom McCarthy and confectioner T. R. Patten for members of the Corinthians Football Club of London, which is now touring the world. The footballers accompanied the liner from Manila to Honolulu, playing exhibitions at all ports visited. On leaving Manila, Chief McCarthy and confectioner Patten greeted the athletes with a large model in sugar of a football field with the 22 players, referee and linesmen all in position.

"The best reception we've had yet" declared Capt. P. B. Clark and manager T. Smith, of the Corinthians, who accepted the surprise package following a graceful presentation by purser J. A. Moir.

Waterfront Notes

Capt. John Griffiths, who brought the liner President Jefferson to Victoria from the Orient last week has gone on shore leave vacation. His place on the Jefferson will be taken by Capt. H. B. Clark of Ss. President Grant, now idle in Seattle. The President Jefferson will sail for the Orient next Wednesday.

NANAIMO — The 3,207 ton freighter Northleigh, a new vessel out of London, is docked here for bunker coal. She is bound from New Westminster to Chemainus to load logs. Capt. S. Jones is in command.

Bound for ports along the West Coast of Vancouver Island, Ss. Princess Maquinna will sail from Victoria tonight at 11 with a good list of passengers and heavy general cargo, including supplies for Zeballos. She will return to Victoria next Thursday.

Although his company operates a fleet of passenger liners across the Pacific, C. E. Dant, president of the States Steamship Lines of Portland, chose the Empress of Japan on which to return from an inspection tour of Orient ports. He arrived yesterday with Mrs. Dant. Ships operated by his company include the General Pershing, the General Lee and the General Grant. Mr. and Mrs. Dant crossed to the Orient on one of them.

Because he had friends arriving yesterday on the Empress of Japan, Capt. R. W. McMurray postponed his departure for southern California, where he will meet Ss. Empress of Britain on her world cruise, from yesterday afternoon to this morning, when he left by Ss. Iroquois.

NO EARLY ATTEMPT

SOUTHAMPTON (AP)—T. O. M. Sopwith, twice unsuccessful challenger for the America's Cup, sees no prospect of Britain challenging again for the famous international yachting trophy for many years.

"Under no circumstances will I make another attempt with Endeavor II," said Sopwith on his return from New York yesterday.

SKIPPER DIES

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—Captain Anskar Wick, Norwegian skipper of the halibut boat R. W., has been buried here. Captain Wick died Saturday after several months illness, in his 49th year.

Surviving are a widow and a son, Roy.

DOWN THE GANGWAY

Ss. Empress of Japan came in yesterday from the Orient and Honolulu with 622 passengers, most of whom were en route to Europe on annual furlough.

Close to 100 of the travelers disembarked here and transferred immediately to Ss. Princess Charlotte, for Seattle, en route to various points in the United States.

The white flagship, which made a beautiful picture, as she steamed from William Head in dazzling sunshine, was a day and a half behind schedule. She was held two days outside the breakwater at Yokohama while Japanese quarantine officials decided what to do with a case of typhus in the third class quarters. Finally they took the man—a young missionary doctor from China—ashore and to hospital. They would allow none of the passengers to disembark, however, and the liner did not go alongside her dock—mail, landing passengers and cargo going ashore by tender.

One of the smartest women among many smart women aboard the Empress, was the Viscountess Fujinami, dainty little Japanese lady, who was born in Toronto and later went to Japan, where she married a member of the aristocracy and the House of Peers. She is on a pleasure trip to North America and will visit her old home in Toronto.

People from China who were aboard included H. A. Scott, Canadian Government trade commissioner at Shanghai, with Mrs. Scott; Dr. L. A. Gastmann, Netherlands consul-general at Shanghai, en route to Holland; G. van Wyck, manager of the Credit Foncier d'Extreme Orient, at Hongkong, bound for Europe, with Mrs. van Wyck and their daughter; F. H. Crapnell, secretary and manager of the Hongkong and Kowloon Wharf and Godown Company, with Mrs. Crapnell and their daughter; J. R. Ford of Shanghai, son of Major J. T. Ford, treasurer and controller of the Shanghai Municipal Council; W. D. Fildes-Wilson of Jardine, Matheson and Swire of Yokohama, with his wife and daughter; H. York Irvine, chairman of Brunner, Mond and Company, with Mrs. Irvine; T. C. Maitland, manager of the Manufacturers' Life Assurance Company at Yokohama; Mrs. F. Gardiner Hall, connected with Tsuda College at Tokio, and E. L. Rhodes, connected with the Rising Sun Petroleum Company at Yokohama.

Gloria Baker, one of the wealthiest young women in the United States, was a passenger aboard the Japan to Honolulu, with her mother, Mrs. M. Emerson. They are on a trip around the world.

Among the passengers who arrived from Hawaii yesterday were: Mr. and Mrs. C. C. T. Clausen, Miss Audrey Dale, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. John Gates, William H. George, Miss Mary Goss, Mrs. M. C. Harless, L. G. Allen, Capt. and Mrs. Don Hays, Mrs. Thomas Kearns, Miss C. Langford, Mrs. O. V. Lewis, J. C. Marmaduke, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Morden, W. A. Murphy, Dr. and Mrs. R. J. McArthur, Mrs. P. J. McCormick, Mrs. Anna McCormick, Thomas McVeagh, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stodart, Mrs. K. F. Terhune, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Whetmore, John M. Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Wright.

From Japan arrived J. Thayer, manager of Butterfield and Swire of Yokohama, with his wife and daughter; H. York Irvine, chairman of Brunner, Mond and Company, with Mrs. Irvine; T. C. Maitland, manager of the Manufacturers' Life Assurance Company at Yokohama; Mrs. F. Gardiner Hall, connected with Tsuda College at Tokio, and E. L. Rhodes, connected with the Rising Sun Petroleum Company at Yokohama.
